BANDIT CAPTURED WHO SENT 51 SOULS TO A FLAMING DEATH

Maximo Castillo, the Mexican Responsible for the Tunnel Horror, Is Made Prisoner by U. S. Soldiers.

SIX OF HIS FOLLOWERS TAKEN WITH CASTILLO

Bandit and His Men Will Probably Be Returned to Mexico and General Villa Will Put Them to Death.

El Paso, Texas, February 17.—Maximo Castillo, the Mexican bandit charged with responsibility for the Cumbre tunnel disaster in which ten Americans and forty-one others lost their lives, was captured thirty-eight miles south of Hachita, N. M., today by American troops.

The information was conveyed today to General Hugh L. Scott, commandant at Fort Bliss, in an official telegram from Captain White, ninth United States cavalry.

Six Followers With Bandit.

With the bandit were six of his followers, who, according to Captain Whites' brief dispatch, surrendered without a fight. They will be brought here.

Castillo, to avoid a range of mountains on the Mexican side, made a detour which brought him into American territory. Captain White was on the watch, having received information yesterday from Walter McCormick, American manager of Las Palomas ranch, on the Mexican side, that the much wanted man was in the vicinity.

Whether the prisoner shall be surrendered to the rebels is a legal question which remains to be settled. If this is done there is no doubt that he will be executed for the Cumbre disaster. He is hot charged with any crime on this side.

Tunnel Still Burning.

Castillo set fire to a freight train in the Cumbre tunnel two weeks ago. The cars were burning when a passenger train crashed into it, and every life aboard was lost. The tunnel still is burning.

A special from Hachita, N. M., says the capture was made by Lieutenant Rothwell, of Troop A. It continues:

"The band of outlaws, under heavy guard, is marching overland to Hachita and should arrive about midnight. Charles McDow, a prominent rancher who knows Castillo, identified them and the latter made no attempt to deny it.

"Captain White will ask that Castillo and Captain Emilio Garcia, a member of the band previously captured, be transported immediately to El Paso."

Previous reports of Castillo's capture, made to General Villa, proved untrue. The latter expressed his gratification at the capture tonight. General Scott was no less jubilant.

To Be Returned to Mexico.

Washington, February 17.—Consideration has been given by officials here to the question of what should be done with the bandit leader Castillo and his followers in the event of their capture on American soil. As the tunnel disaster occurred in Mexico, no crime can be charged against the bandits in the United States and tonight it was regarded as certain that they would be returned to Mexico.

How to accomplish this has not been decided. United States immigration authorities might deport the prisoners as undesirable aliens and this probably would result in their immediae capture by General Villa, who has announced his intention of executing them publicly at Juarez.

MAYFLOWER ORDERED TO MEXICAN WATERS

Washington, February 17.—After a conference with President Wilson today Secretary Daniels ordered the presidential yacht Mayflower to Mexican waters to relieve one of the battleships at Vera Cruz. The president has had no use for the yacht lately and boats of the gunboat class are regarded as particularly useful in Mexican waters because of their light draft.

Captain Harry McL. P. Huse will go on the Mayflower to Vera Cruz to become chief of staff to Admiral Fletcher. The Mayflower will be away about two months.

The state department has not been moved by inquiries of any foreign governments as to the sending of a marine force to the Mexican capital. It is said that such a step is regarded as unnecessary.

The statement was repeated today that the dispatch of machine guns and ammunition by the British admiral at Vera Cruz to the British legation in Mexico City was within international practice. The state department has no knowledge that British marines actually have occupied the legation, though it has assumed that this would be done in case of necessity.

MRS. FASSETT ADMITS KIDNAPING DAUGHTER

She Snatched the Child by Ex-Husband in Florida and Escaped to Spokane.

Spokane, Wash., February 17.—Mrs. Newton C. Fassett returned to Spokane today and admitted that she was the veiled woman who last week at Orlando, Fla., snatched Katharine Griffis McCallie, her 5-year-old daughter, from the child's playmates and disappeared. Mrs. Fassett brought the girl to Spokane.

The girl had been living with an aunt of Mrs. Fassett's former husband, and had not been mentioned in the divorce decree obtained by Mrs. Fassett in Nevada, according to Mrs. Fassett. Mrs. Fassett's present husband is the son of former Congressman J. Sloat Fassett, of New York.

Body of Senator Bacon to Repose In Rotunda of the State Capitol

NATION'S TRIBUTE IS PAID TO BACON

Impressive Services, Marked by Simplicity, at Funeral of Great Georgian in Senate Chamber.

HOW DISTINGUISHED VISITORS ARRIVED

12:40 p. m.—Committee on arrangements.

12:45 p. m.—Vice President Marshall and members of the senate.

12.48 p. m.—Speaker Clark and members of the house of representatives.

12:55 p. m.—Ambassadors and ministers plenipotentiary of foreign governments.

12:58 p. m.—The chief justice of the United States and the justices of the supreme court.

1 p. m.—Members of the president's cabinet.

1:02 p. m.—The secretary and regents of the Smithsonian institution.

1:03 p. m.—The chief of staff of the army and the representative of the admiral of the navy, in uniform.

1:05 p. m.—Members of Senator Bacon's family.

The distinguished gathering dispersed in the inverse order to the above, leaving the family alone with the body of the dead.

Washington, February 17.—Congress and the nation paid final tribute today to the late Senator A. O. Bacon, of Georgia. While his body lay in state in the senate chamber—a rare honor—both houses of congress recessed for the funeral services, which cabinet officers, members of the diplomatic corps and many prominent figures in national life attended.

President Wilson could not go to the funeral because of the risk of exposure after his recent hard cold, but Mrs. Wilson and some of the family occupied places in the gallery. A large wreath, bearing the cards of the president and Mrs. Wilson, was placed on the casket, the only floral tribute in the chamber besides one from the senate. The wreath was of orchids, hyacinths, mignonettes and daisies.

Two guards of honor, one a union soldier and the other a confederate veteran, stood beside the coffin as it lay in the marble room.

The ceremonies were marked by simplicity. There were no eulogies—only prayer and funeral service by the senate chaplain and Bishop Harding, of the Episcopal church.

The body was taken from Washington at 4:45 p. m. for Atlanta, where it will lie in state in the Georgia capitol before being taken to Macon for burial.

To the left of the coffin, immediately in front of the vice president's desk, sat members of the family of Senator Bacon, his daughter, Mrs. Willis B. Sparks; his grandson, Augustus O. Bacon Sparks, and his granddaughter, Miss Louise Curry. With them were Judge and Mrs. William B. Lamar.

Admiral Dewey was not present, but was represented by Rear Admiral Vreeland. He and General Wood, chief of staff of the army, were in full uniform and furnished the only touch of color in the assembly.

Members of the cabinet who attended were Secretaries Bryan, McReynolds, Garrison, Daniels, Lane, Redfield and Wilson.

The services were completed at 1:30 o'clock.

Two hours before the body was taken with tender reverence into the senate chamber it lay in the adjoining marble room. The public was excluded. Later the body was taken into the senate chamber and placed upon the creped bier, directly in front of the vice president's desk.

Seats Reserved for Dignitaries.

Seats upon the floor were reserved for the president of the United States, members of his cabinet, the chief justice and associate justices of the supreme court, members of the diplomatic corps, members of the house of representatives, the admiral of the navy, the chief of staff of the army and the regents and secretary of the Smithsonian institution.

Members of the dead senator's family and the officiating clergymen remained in the vice president's room until time for the services, when they were conducted to the seats reserved for them on the floor.

Admission to the galleries was by card, extended only to the members of the house and the more intimate friends of the dead statesman. One gallery was reserved for the use of those invited by the president and the vice president. Hundreds of those who came to pay homage to the dead statesman's memory were turned away.

The Ceremonies.

The members of the family who attended the funeral today were Mrs. W. B. Sparks, of Macon, daughter of Senator Bacon; A. O. B. Sparks, a grandson, and Miss Louise Curry, a granddaughter; Wallace Miller, son of Judge J. L. Miller, of Macon, Senator Bacon's law partner for years. Judge Custis Nottingham, his counsel in Macon; Judge and Mrs. William Bailey Lamar, Mrs. Joseph R. Lamar, wife of Justice Lamar of the supreme court, and John T. Boifeuillet, clerk of the foreign relations committee, also occupied the reserved seats directly in front of the vice president's desk.

When Vice President Marshall walked slowly to his seat and called the senate to order, the short and simple services began. Departing from the customary form, Mr. Marshall, in a voice full of feeling and lowered almost to a whisper, said:

"The hour has arrived at which, in accordance with the orders of the senate, the final ceremonies over the body of Augustus Octavius Bacon, late senator from Georgia, and an unusually distinguished member of this body, are to be observed. In conformity to custom and in token of our common faith, the chaplain of the senate will

All Georgia to Do Honor to Her Dead Statesman When Remains Reach Atlanta From Washington Today.

VETERANS TO GROUP AROUND THE HEARSE

Funeral Procession From the Terminal Station to the Capitol Will Be One of the Largest Ever Seen in Atlanta.

Georgia will pay the last tributes of honor and respect to the memory of her dead senator today when the body of the late Senator Augustus O. Bacon will lie in state at the capitol building from noon to 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

As the body of the distinguished statesman lies silent in the building, through whose marble halls and legislative chambers his voice in years past has rung out to help mold the destiny of his state, Georgia will mourn.

In Atlanta there will be no ceremonies over the body.

With a military guard of honor standing at each corner of the shrouded casket, the dead senator will be the recipient of the silent tributes of esteem of the friends and comrades of his life, as they file by the bier. These personal tributes will be far more eloquent than the words of orators and more impressive than elaborate ceremony.

Guard of Militiamen.

An honorary guard of the Georgia national guard, the Seventeenth infantry, cadets, Confederate Veterans and honorary escorts from other organizations will accompany the body from the Terminal station to the capitol.

Carriages will call at the capitol at 10:30 o'clock to take the statehouse officials to the station to meet the funeral party.

At 11:40 o'clock the funeral party, composed of distinguished friends and co-workers of Senator Bacon from Washington, will arrive over the Southern railway. The casket will be taken upon the elevator from the train shed to the street floor of the Terminal station.

On the street floor of the building the cadets of the Georgia Military academy and the Marist college will form a double line from the gates of the train yard elevator to the main entrance of the station. The funeral party will march through their ranks to the main entrance, where the casket will be placed in the waiting hearse to be carried to its temporary resting place in the capitol.

When the body arrives at the entrance the Confederate Veterans, many of whom were with the senator through the stirring scenes of the civil war, will be assembled, and will receive the casket. The veterans will then form a hollow square about the hearse.

A detail of the Seventeenth infantry will carry the casket from the train to the hearse. This detail will then march in the rear of the hearse to the capitol.

The veterans have been ordered to report to Captain Tip Harrison at the Terminal station at 10:30 o'clock. Each veteran will wear his cross of honor.

Formation of Parade.

By the time the funeral party has arrived, the great honorary escort from the military organizations will have formed on Madison avenue. The procession will form facing to the west and with the right resting on Mitchell street.

First will come a platoon of mounted police, in command of Chief of Police James L. Beavers.

Next will come the Seventeenth infantry, under command of Major George W. Martin.

The entire Fifth regiment of the Georgia national guard will follow, Colonel Orville H. Hall commanding.

The cadets will leave the Terminal station by the Mitchell street viaduct entrance as soon as the funeral party has passed through their ranks and will follow the Fifth infantry in the procession.

The Atlanta Bar association will form on Mitchell street and will follow the cadets in the parade.

City council, honorary escorts from the trustees of the University of Georgia, from the Macon Bar association and other bodies will also march in the procession.

Adjutant General J. Van Holt Nash has charge of the parade arrangements and has issued the orders to all the detachments of the parade giving them their position.

The parade will proceed from the Terminal station eastward down Mitchell street to Whitehall. It will then march up Whitehall street to Hunter and from Hunter to the Washington street entrance of the capitol.

Double Line of Sentries.

Upon the arrival at the capitol the Fifth infantry will throw a double line of sentries from the sidewalk into the capitol through to the rotunda, where the body will lie in state.

The casket will be carried between the double lines to its resting place.

As the casket is being conveyed from the hearse to the rotunda of the capitol the Seventeenth infantry will be formed all along Washington street facing the capitol and will stand at present arms as a token of respect.

When the body has been placed in the rotunda four honorary guards will be detailed to stand at the bier one hour each.

Four officers from their respective commands will stand guard, one at each corner of the bier. The commands from which these honorary guards will come are as follows:

DONALDSONS WILL SOON BE OUSTED

The Vote of Commissioners Will Stand 3 to 2 for Dismissing Well-Known Officials.

Tom and Si Donaldson, for the past 20 years connected with the public works department of the county, will be ousted from office following the sensational and mandatory presentment of the grand jury handed down Monday.

The vote on the ousting of the brothers will stand three to two. Commissioners Smith, Winn and Turman will vote to let the brothers go, while Commissioners Anderson and Waters will probably make a fight whereby the Donaldsons can be retained in the county employ yet be separated from authority over convicts.

Board Is Split.

The county board of commissioners is hopelessly split on the matter of taking up, officially, the report of the grand jury at least for a week. That the board will, however, probably put into effect all of the recommendations of the grand jury, including the ousting of the Donaldson brothers, is a positive fact, gleaned in interviews with the commissioners.

Following the grand jury presentment there was much talk on Tuesday of at once re-arranging the office of the chairman of the county board so that candidates for that position may be elected for four years instead of two and be paid a salary variously estimated at between $2,500 and $4,000 per year so that such an official can give all of his time to the county business, as the grand jurors recommended.

It is also reasonably certain that at the next meeting of the county commissioners a warden of convicts will be named and a salary fixed, this action of the board automatically cutting off the management of the county convicts from the control of the department of public works.

Philip Weltner Mentioned.

It would not be unexpected if the commissioners named Philip Weltner, at present prison secretary for the Men and Religion Forward Movement, for the position of warden of county convicts. Mr. Weltner, for the past six months, has been agitating reform methods in the conduct of the convict camps and his friends are claiming that the present upheaval in county convict camp affairs is solely due to his persistent efforts.

The matter of the possible indictment of the county commissioners should they not put into effect at once the recommendations of the grand jury was subject for eager debate in courthouse circles on Tuesday afternoon.

It was pointed out that indictments could be forthcoming as the next meeting of the county commissioners will ball before the present grand jury adjourns. At the final meeting of the grand jury that body could bring in "true bills" if their demands have not not been completely carried out, meanwhile.

The meeting of the grand jury on Tuesday brought forth no new sensations. The matter of probing the alleged violations of the law in locker clubs was not touched upon. About a score of routine indictments were returned.

MAYOR WILL TAKE HAND TO MEET CURRENT DEBT

Woodward and Comptroller Goldsmith Held Lengthy Conference Tuesday.

Determined that the city shall not suffer for the lack of funds to carry on the public business pending the passage of the 1914 budget, which carries more than $5,000,000, Mayor Woodward and Comptroller Goldsmith held a lengthy conference Tuesday and both decided to meet all demands on the treasury for current expenses.

Mayor Woodward made the announcement following the conference he had with the comptroller that in the event council does not settle the budget dispute at the adjourned meeting Thursday afternoon he will call a special meeting every day until the sheet is finally passed.

City hall employees and the thousands of men and women—policemen, firemen and school teachers—who are on the payrolls of the city, hailed Mayor Woodward's promise that he will not allow the finance sheet dispute to menace salaries, even though the charter fund of $175,000 has been exhausted.

"A majority of the general council favors the sheet as it stands, and it would be adopted by an overwhelming majority were it not for the antagonism of five members of the aldermanic board," Mayor Woodward said. "I have not taken any hand in the dispute until now because it did not interfere, in any great extent, with the business of the public. Now I consider that the public business is menaced, and I am going to take in the dispute to the extent of calling the general council together every day until the sheet is passed or something else done with it.

"Regardless of the five opposing members of the aldermanic board, I here state that the public business will be carried on just as it has been in the past."

Chairman W. G. Humphrey, of the finance committee, believes that the attitude of the mayor will have the effect of compelling the minority in council to yield to the majority.

They also point out that the fight on the sheet was started because the finance committee failed to put $2,400 in the sheet for the salaries of Inspectors Dozier and D'Alvigny, and also because the committee did not give Whitehall street a fair portion of the new money for improvement projects, but the finance committee has agreed to restore the inspectors, and Chairman Humphrey has promised that at least $8,000 will be given Whitehall street, and that in June all the other improvements which could not be taken care of in the January sheet will be provided for.

"The city is going to have a lot of money in June," Chairman Humphrey said. "There is no need of all this worry and anxiety because a few projects have been overlooked."

The minority opponents of the sheet say that they are fighting for a principle

LEO M. FRANK HAS NOT LOST ALL HOPE; COUNSEL WILL MAKE VIGOROUS FIGHT TO SAVE THE LIFE OF THEIR CLIENT

Loses in Supreme Court

LEO M. FRANK.

Frank's Attorneys Preparing for New Battle—May Appeal to Federal Courts, or Make Extraordinary Motion.

CONVICTED MAN STOICAL WHEN HE HEARS NEWS; MAKES NO STATEMENT

Trial Judge's Remarks No Ground for New Trial, Holds High Court—Perversion Evidence by Conley Admissible.

Leo M. Frank, denied by the supreme court a new trial for the murder of Mary Phagan, now faces one of three final recourses:

First, motion for a re-hearing before the court which handed down yesterday's decision;

Second, an extraordinary motion for new trial before the superior court, in which he was originally arraigned, on a basis of newly found evidence;

Third, an appeal to the supreme court of the United States on the grounds that he was technically deprived of constitutional rights during his first trial.

He can invoke all three, in which event, it is not likely the case will finally end within less than a year's time.

The defense is seeking to extract the weaknesses of the affirmative opinion and the strength of the dissenting one to present both in a new fight for a new trial, which is to be waged in either the same supreme court in which the sustaining verdict was handed down or in the federal supreme court, America's ultimate tribunal.

No fixed plans have been made by Attorneys Luther Rosser and Rube Arnold, the convicted man's counsel, for further attack. Both stated Tuesday afternoon that their ideas were indefinite, but that they would never cease fighting.

Frank Still Calm.

In his cell in the Tower Frank maintained characteristic calmness and composure throughout the day. In the afternoon a barber came and clipped his hair and shaved him. An hour later he exercised on the dumbells, which has become a daily practice since his long imprisonment. To a jail attache who has entree to his cage Frank is reported as having said:

"The truth will finally out. It can't be pinned down forever. It will take time—maybe an age, but it will eventually come, and I will then be an exonerated man. I am not worrying, because I'm depending on truth. In time the world will know the guilty man and I will be cleared. It will take time, but time will do it."

His wife, Mrs. Lucile Frank, staying at the home of relatives, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Marcus, said over the telephone to a Constitution reporter last night:

Wife Was Surprised.

"Certainly the decision came as a surprise. We are only waiting for the truth to claim its own. My husband is in good health and he is bearing up well. I am too nervous and unstrung to talk much. Later, maybe, I will talk more and have many things to say. But not tonight."

Her voice had a trace of tears and there was a sob in her throat. She had undergone a hard day. Twice she had visited the cell of her husband. The latter visit lasted until late at night, when she departed reluctantly. Frank was besieged by friends all during the day, many remaining until as late as 10:30 o'clock at night, when he was forced to retire.

Frank's defense, it is widely circu-

WILSON DEFENDS JOSEPH TUMULTY

President Denies Emphatically That His Correspondence Is Handled With Religious Prejudice.

Washington, February 17.—In a letter to W. W. Prescott, editor of The Protestant Magazine published here, President Wilson has denied emphatically that his correspondence is handled with religious prejudice by his secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty.

The Correspondence.

The correspondence made public today by the magazine follows:

"The President, Washington, D. C., January 15, 1914.

"Sir: I learn from personal interviews and correspondence that there is a wide-spread feeling among Protestants that it is practically impossible for any communication relating to the activities of the Roman Catholic church to reach you personally, for thereupon all such letters are withheld from you by your private secretary, Mr. Tumulty. It is unfortunate, both for you and for the country that such an impression prevails, and that it seems to have some foundation.

To Restore Confidence.

"Before dealing with this subject in this magazine, I am writing to ask for a statement from you which might be of service in restoring confidence among some of the best citizens of this republic. Any reply, however brief, showing that this letter actually reaches you, would be a source of satisfaction.

"When you were governor of New Jersey, I wrote you concerning some criticisms of your course in which you were charged with showing favoritism to the Roman Catholic church and your reply placed the matter in such a light that I did not deem it necessary to make any reference to the subject. My desire is to deal fairly with public men and hence this letter.

"Thanking you for any attention which you may give to my request, I am,

"Yours very truly,
"W. W. PRESCOTT."

Reply of the President.

The president's reply under date of January 19, 1914, reads:

"My dear sir: Allow me to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of January 15 and to thank you for your candor in writing me.

"I beg leave to assure you that the impression that any part of my correspondence is withheld from me in any circumstances by my secretary on account of religious predilections on his part is absurdly and utterly false. I venture to say that no president ever had more frank and satisfactory relations with his secretary than I have with mine. The whole of my correspondence is constantly open to me. Mr. Tumulty is more prompt, perhaps, to call my attention to matters in which his prejudice is supposed to be engaged than to other matters of relative indifference.

"Of course, I need hardly add I am not speaking from an impression, but from knowledge of just how my correspondence is handled.

"Sincerely yours,
"WOODROW WILSON."

200 INSULTED WOMEN FLED FROM GALLERIES

Women Angered by Debate on Bill to Raise the Age of Consent.

Jackson, Miss., February 17.—More than 200 women waging an aggressive campaign for a bill pending before the lower house of the legislature providing for raising the age of consent to 18 years left the house galleries today during a bitter debate on that measure.

The debate was on the amendment, the effect of which was that the present style of some dresses worn by many women on the streets should be considered evidence of bad character. The exit of the women from the galleries followed remarks by Representative Morrison, of Grenada, which referred to the "immodesty of present day fashions," referring particularly to "slashed skirts." Mr. Morrison advocated adoption of the amendment.

The amendment offered by Representative Walker, of Lauderdale county, was defeated 50 to 46. The bill raising the age of consent to 18 years finally was passed with only eighteen votes against it.

C. F. von HERRMANN,
Section Director.

lated, will rely chiefly upon the dissenting opinion of Chief Justice Fish and Associate Justice Beck, of the supreme bench, in their new and final battle for the client. The sentiment of these judges was based largely upon the theory that admission of the testimony of Jim Conley, the negro star witness, and of C. B. Dalton, was improper.

The stories of Conley and Dalton related to the alleged perversion of the defendant. The contention of the conflicting opinion, however, presented by Justices Hill, Atkinson, Evans and Lumpkin, was that in Frank's particular case and in the circumstances of the particular murder of which he was accused, it was perfectly legal to introduce evidence pertaining to his conduct with women other than the girl with whose murder he was charged.

The opinion of the assenting justices is briefly and tersely put in the following paragraph of their decision's final headnote:

"The evidence supports the verdict, and there was no abuse of discretion in refusing a new trial."

It was also held that the refusal of Judge L. S. Roan, the trial justice, to grant a new trial on grounds of disorder in the courtroom was proper, and furthermore, that the supreme court did not consider oral expressions of the trial justice which might be rendered at the time of denial of motion for new trial. This latter ruling related to the famous remarks of Judge Roan in which he declared his indecision as to either the guilt or innocence of Leo Frank.

"I fully expected the decision," stated Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey. "Frank had a fair trial, and an impartial one. He was found guilty, and guilty I believe him to be. Had I not believed him guilty throughout the case, I would never have prosecuted him."

Frank to Be Re-Sentenced.

The solicitor will soon take the necessary action to have Frank re-sentenced. This will be done at an early date.

"I have no desire to hasten affairs," said Dorsey. "I will waste no time, however."

In view of the dissenting opinion of the two supreme justices, it is believed counsel for the defense will seek a new hearing before the supreme court. A thorough survey of both opinions will decide. In this case, they will endeavor to have the case sent again to the supreme court. This would be their only hope.

Charges of technical failure would be the basis of their second presentation in event they follow such course. To put it before the supreme court directly would mean on the grounds of purely the dissenting voices in the decision handed down Tuesday. Similar instances are in the annals of the history of Georgia courts.

It is also expected that the defense will sift the evidence of each of the three instances in which their client's case hung in the scales—the original trial, the hearing before Judge Roan for a new trial and the hearing before the supreme court—in an effort to find technical points that will warrant its introduction to the government supreme court.

In this case, it is said, allegations will be made that Frank was deprived of constitutional rights. This is stated to be the only federal point which might involve a case similar to that of Frank's trial. The Frank case before the federal court would require months and months.

A motion extraordinary could be made on the grounds of newly-discovered evidence. This would have to be carried before the trial court, over which Judge Ben Hill presides since Judge Roan's departure. In this instance the case could only be forwarded to the supreme court, in which it met defeat Tuesday.

Hope Is Dissenting Opinion.

"The strongest argument, I think, that could be made in our behalf," Luther Rosser said Tuesday afternoon, "is contained in the dissenting opinion of Chief Justice Fish and Justice Beck."

By which it was inferred, but not confirmed, that the plan of action for the new fight would be a renewal of the argument before the supreme court. A re-argument of this nature would consume practically the same amount of time required for the original argument and decision. Such a motion would necessarily have to be on the basis that the court failed to decide some material point presented in the bill of 103 separate objections.

In voicing their sentiment for granting a new trial, Justices Fish and Beck said that the evidence of Conley and Dalton was inadmissible, in that it related mostly to Frank's alleged conduct with women other than Mary Phagan.

They held that an accused person cannot be expected to face in court accusations other than those contained in the bill of indictment. Men untrained in legal processes of reasoning, as jurors, for instance, are liable to be influenced greatly, they held, by such irrelevant testimony.

"They conclude," the opinion reads, "that persons guilty of this crime might be equally as guilty of that."

The remittur of the supreme court—the legal form of the decision—will reach the superior court within a period not less than ten days. Frank can then be brought before Judge Hill for resentence. Not less than twenty days and not more than sixty can expire between sentence and execution.

Jim Conley's trial, by the decision of the supreme court, is made a certainty for the week of February 23. He will be arraigned on a charge of accessory after the fact. He declared to reporters yesterday that he had felt confident all the while that the supreme court would affirm the lower tribunal's verdict.

"They've got the right man," he declared, "and he knows it."

Dorsey's Statement.

Solicitor Hugh Dorsey expressed no surprise at the decision of the supreme court.

"Frank had a perfectly fair trial. As near as it is possible to demonstrate a thing of that kind mathematically, he was proved guilty.

"From the very first suspicion pointed to him. The detectives suspected him from the very first. I was not satisfied with mere suspicions and went into the case from every angle. I wanted to find the man who was guilty; it made no difference to me who he was. I became convinced of Frank's guilt and I am convinced of it today.

"He had the benefit of the best legal talent money could buy. He had position and influential friends to serve him. The jury thought him guilty and said so; the trial judge thought he had been given a fair trial and refused to grant him a new one. The supreme court has now stated that the lower court did not err.

"I am sorry for the family and friends of the man who have stood by him so loyally."

Headnotes of Decision.

The headnotes of the decision in the Frank case read as follows:

"On the trial of one accused of the murder of a young girl in a factory building of which he was superintendent where circumstantial evidence is relied upon largely if not wholly to prove the defendant's guilt it is not sufficient cause for a new trial under the special facts of the case that the state was permitted to prove the demeanor of the night watchman of the factory and also that of the accused on the morning after the discovery of the body.

"2. A young girl was killed in a pencil factory on Saturday afternoon, which was also a public holiday, when the factory was not in operation. The evidence showed that she went to the office of the superintendent for her pay, and no witness testified to having seen her alive thereafter. There was other evidence from which the jury might infer that the killing occurred in a room on the same floor where the office of the superintendent was situated. An employee of the factory, who was present in the building testified that on that morning the accused had said to him that he desired the witness to watch for him as the witness had 'been doing the rest of the Saturdays,' or 'other Saturdays,' that he did watch at the door when the girl went up to the office of the accused; that he heard her scream; that subsequently the accused called to him to assist in removing the body of the deceased.

Court Did Not Err.

"He also testified to certain signals given by the accused to him while watching. Held, that it was competent to show by the witness how he had been watching for the accused on previous Saturdays, and to explain the system of such alleged signals employed by the accused, and the refrence thereto by the accused.

"(a). The same witness testified that, after the girl had gone to the office of the accused, he had heard footsteps going in the direction of the place where he first saw the body, and after hearing the scream and the signal from the accused, the latter told the witness that he 'wanted to be with a little girl,' and she refused him, and he struck her and guessed he struck her too hard, and she fell and hit her head against something, and he did not know how badly she was hurt. Witness then said that the accused added: 'Of course, you know I ain't built like other men.' From the condition of the body it might have been inferred that the person who did the killing sought to have a sexual relation, natural or unnatural, with the deceased, and that the blow did not cause death, but it was brought about by choking the deceased with a cord. Held, that it was relevant to explain the expression above quoted to showing previous transactions of the accused, known to him and to witness, which indicated that his conduct in sexual matters differed from that of other men.

"(b). As a general rule evidence of the commission of one crime is not admissible upon a trial for another, where the sole purpose is to show that the defendant has been guilty of other crimes, and would, therefore, be more liable to commit the offense charged; but, if the evidence is material and relevant to the issue on trial it is not admissible because it may also tend to establish the defendant's guilt of a crime other than the one charged.

"(c). Under the rule just announced, the evidence of the witness above mentioned, which it was sought to withdraw from the jury, and also the evidence of another witness, which corroborated him in regard to other improper transactions with women, in which the accused took part, occurring at the same place, not a great while before the homicide, and in regard to the watching by the first witness, while lascivious practices were being engaged in at that place, and in regard to compensating him thereafter, was admissible as throwing light upon the motive of the accused and also as indicating his design or schemes in regard to his practices at that place, in connection with which the evidence authorized the jury to find that the murder occurred, and tending to show the identity of the criminal.

"Paragraph 3. Under the facts of the case it was irrelevant to show as to circumstance indicating a consciousness of guilt that the defendant who had manifested interest in ferreting out the perpetrator of the homicide for the commission of which he was subsequently indicted and had taken part in the employment of detectives for that purpose and had interviewed one person suspected and refused an interview to one indicating that the defendant was aware of the witness' knowledge of the defendant's guilt, when such interview was proposed by detectives, including the one he had employed.

"Paragraph 4. Where the testimony of a witness is competent, he may be permitted to give the details of experiments on which his testimony is based.

Health Board Controversy.

"Paragraph 5. The details of a controversy between the former president and secretary of the state board of health in their official relations was foreign to any issue involved in the trial of the case. The testimony was provoked by a question propounded by counsel for the defense who directed examination of his witnesses. The testimony did not tend to obscure any issue in the case or prejudice the defendant, and the reception in evidence of the excerpt from the minutes of the state board of health dealing with such controversy is no ground for a new trial.

"6. Where it was material to show at what time the girl who was killed arrived at the factory at which the homicide occurred, and after this point the contentions of the state and the accused differed, as well as in regard to the point at which she left the street car on which she came from her home, and the defendant introduced evidence to show the scheduled time at which the car was due to arrive at a certain point where it was claimed on behalf of the state that she left it, and the time it would require for the car to go from that point to another at which the accused claimed that the girl alighted, as well as the testimony of certain witnesses that the car in question reached the first point at the time fixed by the schedule (specifying it), and one of them testified on cross-examination that 'we never arrive in advance of schedule time;' and where the defendant also introduced other evidence as to schedules of the street cars on another route in the effort to account for the defendant's presence at other places at such times during the day, it was competent for the solicitor general to thoroughly sift the witnesses introduced by the accused on cross-examination, and also to introduce evidence in rebuttal tending to show, in addition to the fact that the testimony of a witness for the accused was inexact in regard to the schedule, that in fact the car on the line traveled by the girl in going from her home to the factory frequently arrived at the point above mentioned several minutes in advance of schedule time.

Impeachment of Witnesses.

"(a). If in any respect the cross-examination or the evidence introduced in rebuttal was not strictly within the proper range of such evidence, it was not of such a character as to require a reversal.

"7. The testimony referred to in the seventh division of the opinion was relevant, and properly received by the court.

"8. A witness testified to matters material to the defense. She was asked if her wages had not been increased by the parent of the accused's wife and if a gift had not been made to her by the wife of the accused, and answered in the negative. Upon laying the proper foundation for impeachment, it was competent to introduce her own affidavit and the testimony of another witness to show that she had made statements contradictory of her testimony stated above.

"9. On the trial of one for the murder of a female, where the testimony tended to show that the garments of the victim of the homicide were torn and her . . . organs had suffered . . . violence, . . . and the defendant introduced a witness to establish his good character, it was competent on cross-examination to ask such witness if he had not heard of certain lascivious acts of the defendant with other females.

"10. Likewise, under the circumstances referred to, the preceding note, where the defendant introduced evidence of his good character, the prosecution could reply by offering proof of his general bad character for lasciviousness.

"11. Where the court instructs the jury under degree and strength of circumstantial evidence essential to a conviction, in the language of the statute, it is generally not ground for a new trial that he declines to give a written request abstractly elaborating this principle of evidence.

Regarding Disorder in Court.

"(a). The requests set out in grounds 60, 61 and 62 of the motion for a new trial are not so accurate or appropriate as concrete application of the principle involved as to render the failure to give them cause for a new trial.

"12. As pointed out in the twelfth division of the opinion, the request to charge as therein set out invaded the province of the jury, and was properly refused.

"13. Where a defendant puts his character in issue, and the prosecution offers rebuttal evidence, tending to show that his general character in respect to a trait involved in the case is bad, failure to cross-examine the rebutting witnesses is legitimate ground for argument. Likewise, counsel for the state may discuss any feature of the defendant's statement.

"14. In view of the reference which had been made by one of counsel for the accused to the circumstances of a celebrated criminal case, occurring in California, and of his concession of the right of the solicitor general to likewise discuss the facts of that case in regard to it, no objection was raised to the reading of a telegram from the district attorney in San Francisco, there was no error in allowing the solicitor general to proceed with his argument on that subject, without reading such telegram or letter.

"(a). Nor did it furnish cause for granting a new trial that the presiding judge did not charge to the effect that the facts of the case above mentioned and other celebrated cases referred to by the solicitor general in his argument should have no influence upon the jury in making their verdict, and that they should try this case upon its own facts and the evidence introduced therein. It not appearing that any ruling was invoked in regard to the argument of cases other than that above mentioned, or that any written request was made invoking a charge of the character indicated.

Medical Witnesses.

"15. Whether or not the argument of the solicitor general, seeking to deduce an inference from the examination on behalf of the accused of certain medical witnesses and from their testimony, that they must have been summoned because of being family physicians and well-known to some of the members of the jury, was illogical or well-founded, under the colloquy which was had by counsel among themselves and with the court, and the statements solicitor general or stop him from making such argument will not, under the facts of the case, require a reversal.

"16. The alleged disorder in the court room during the progress of the trial was not of such character as to impugn the fairness of the trial, or furnish sufficient grounds for reversing a judgment refusing a new trial.

"(a). The court was authorized from the evidence to find that certain cheering or applause outside of the court room, referred to in the sixteenth division of the opinion, was not heard by the jury, and that they did not have knowledge of the same until after the verdict was returned.

"17. Where a verdict is received in open court, and a poll of the jury demanded, and while the poll is being taken loud cheering from persons on the outside is heard, and which is continued until after the poll is concluded, and where from the evidence the court is authorized to find that the jury was not influenced to render other than true answers to the questions propounded, the circumstances of the cheering on the outside is not a sufficient ground to require a new trial.

Judge Roan's Remarks.

"18. On conflicting evidence the judge on the hearing of the motion for a new trial, acting as trior, did not err in holding that the jurors whose impartiality was attacked were competent.

"19. When the order overruling a motion for new trial contains nothing to indicate that the judge was dissatisfied with the verdict, or that he failed to exercise the discretion required of him by law, the supreme court will not, in determining whether the judge has exercised such discretion, consider oral remarks made by him pending the disposition of the motion.

"20. The evidence supports the verdict, and there was no abuse of discretion in refusing a new trial."

No Ground for Reversal.

In the main opinion of the four justices upholding the lower court, there occurs the following comment on that ground of the motion for a new trial which cited Judge Roan's remarks at the time he denied that motion in the lower court:

"The bill of exceptions recites that the judge orally stated 'that the jury had found the defendant guilty; that he, the judge, had thought about this case more than any other he had ever tried; that he was not certain of the defendant's guilt; that with all the thought he has put on this case he was not thoroughly convinced whether Frank was guilty or innocent, but that he did not have to be convinced; that the jury was convinced; that there was no room to doubt that; that he felt it his duty to order that the motion for a new trial be overruled.'

"It is insisted that the remarks made by the judge in denying the new trial indicated judicial disapproval of the verdict.

"We do not think so. The jury found the accused guilty. The court was called upon to determine wether under the record the defendant should be granted a new trial. He refused it, and the rule in such cases is that even if the court should consider a case weak, yet, if he overrules the motion for a new trial, one ground of which is that the verdict is contrary to law and evidence, his legal judgment expressed in overruling the motion will control; and if there is sufficient evidence to support the verdict this court will not interfere because of the judge's oral expression as to his opinion. Bray v. State, 69 Ga., 765 (4); Sav., Fla. and Western Ry. Co. v. Steinhouser, 121 Ga. (2)."

Evidence Sufficient to Uphold.

The last paragraph of the main opinion is as follows:

"The record in this case is voluminous. We have attempted to group the various assignments of error so as to bring the opinion within reasonable grounds. Some of the points are deemed of minor importance, not amounting to error, and some of them were not referred to in the briefs, and therefore no specific reference is made to them. We have given careful consideration to the evidence, and we believe that the same is sufficient to uphold the verdict; and, as no substantial error was committed in the trial of the case, the discretion of the court in refusing a new trial will not be disturbed.

"Judgment affirmed. All the justices concur, except Fish, C. J., and Beck, J., dissenting."

The main body of the opinion commented as follows on the ground alleged in the motion for new trial that the court had erred in permitting Solicitor General Dorsey in his argument to comment on the failure of Mrs. Frank to visit her husband right after he was accused of the murder:

"Exception was also taken to the court's permitting the solicitor general in his argument to comment upon the failure of counsel for the defendant to cross-examine certain witnesses offered by the state; and also to comment upon the failure of the wife of the accused to visit him in jail. What has just been said (overruling another ground) covers the first of these complaints.

"As to the latter, the accused in his statement had referred to the failure of his wife to visit him soon after his incarceration, and had given an explanation of it; and the solicitor had a right to comment on the statement."

Prejudice of Two Jurors.

Paragraph 18 of the main opinion referred to bias alleged against the two jurors, Johenning and Henslee:

"The 73d ground of the motion for a new trial is 'Because the Juror A. H. Henslee was not a fair and impartial juror, but prejudiced against the defendant when he was selected as a juror, and previously thereto had expressed a decided opinion as to the guilt of the defendant, and when selected as a juror was biased against the defendant in favor of the state.'

"The movant submitted evidence tending to show that previous to the trial, this particular juror had made certain expressions to different people, indicating a strong bias and prejudice against the accused. The juror denied under oath having made any statement in substance, that he was biased and prejudiced against the accused, and on the other hand positively affirmed that he was unprejudiced against the accused, and that his mind was perfectly impartial during the trial. The rule is clear that when the impartiality of a juror is challenged on a motion for a new trial, the judge becomes a trior as to the issue made and his judgment will not be disturbed unless it appeared that there has been an abuse of discretion. Wall v. State, 126 Ga., 549 (4). On the conflicting evidence there was no abuse of discretion in this case.

"Another juror, Mr. Johenning, was attacked, but under the conflicting evidence we think the court did not abuse his discretion in holding that he was not prejudiced or biased."

Practically without exception, Solicitor Dorsey was upheld on every point by the supreme court.

PROBE WILL BE MADE OF GRAFT CHARGES MADE BY SAM CRANE

A general probe of the charges instituted against the two turnkeys named in Attorney Sam Crane's accusations has been advised by the special board of police commissioners appointed at the time Crane's startling charges were made last Tuesday night.

A complete probe will be made of the department and graft charges. This was recommended by Commissioners Vernoy and Garner. Commissioner Johnson, however, dissented to this motion, advising that only Crane's charges be taken up.

"I am in favor of a complete and thorough investigation," said Commissioners Vernoy and Garner.

A special called meeting of the board will be held at an early date to promote the investigation.

Fields of Beautiful Cottons

From Which, It Seems, Every Atlanta Woman Could Pick Her Spring Dresses

The new cottons are here.

And now begin the days of planning, selecting and making the new dresses.

This year such days will be filled with much pleasure.

So many new weaves, such exquisite colorings, such impressive newness on all sides.

New spring cottons—it sounds trite and commonplace to tell the plain truth about them—that the display is the most varied, the most satisfying we have invited you to see. But that is just what it is.

Cottons have never been treated as these—spun to the thickness of gossamer at one time, rough and heavy at another, brocaded as sumptuously as regal silks or spreading out as a surface whereon have dropped the flowers of nature, and then, besides these, are the snowflaky crepes.

It offers much, very much, to those who would have started on the spring things—much in novelties, much in the year-in-and-year-out stripes.

MRS. PARKER SLATED FOR STATE REGENT

Believed That Head of Nathaniel Macon Chapter Will Be Honored by D. A. R.'s of State.

Macon, Ga., February 17.—(Special.) When the sixteenth annual session of the Georgia division of the Daughters of the American Revolution convened this morning at the Hotel Dempsey convention hall nearly 300 delegates from various sections of the state were in attendance. The two local chapters were also well represented.

Mrs. Sophie B. Foster, state regent, is presiding. She has served two years as head of the work in Georgia, which is the prescribed limit.

It is generally understood that Mrs. Thad C. Parker, regent of the Nathaniel Macon chapter, of Macon, and which is host to the state conference, will be chosen as the state regent for the ensuing year.

Several social function were held today in honor to the visitors in addition to the business sessions for the hearing of reports of officers and the unveiling of the monument on the site of old Fort Hawkins.

State Regent's Report.

The state regent, Mrs. Foster, at the morning session submitted one of the best annual reports the society has ever heard. She stated that 509 new members have been added during the past year, making a total membership of 2,500. During the year 27 members died and 19 resigned.

Chapters organized during the past year were: William Few, at Eastman, Mrs. A. L. Wilkins, regent; William McIntosh, Jackson, Mrs. J. D. Jones, regent; James Monroe, Forsyth, Mrs. J. O. Ponder, regent; Matthew Talbot, Monroe, Mrs. J. H. Walker, regent; Samuel Reid, Eatonton, Mrs. Frank Hearn, regent; Benjamin Hawkins, Cuthbert, Mrs. R. L. Walker, regent; Shellman chapter, Mrs. J. N. Watts, regent; Cordele chapter, Mrs. Max Card, regent; Perry chapter, Mrs. C. A. Gilbert, regent. Mrs. Foster has appointed regents to organize chapters in Tallapoosa, Sparta, Hogansville, Hawkinsville, St. Simons, Douglas, Commerce and Watkinsville.

Slab at Fort Unveiled.

Another of the features of the opening day of the convention was the unveiling of a marker on the site of old Fort Hawkins, a curtain that has veiled much of Macon's history being raised by Lucian Lamar Knight, Georgia historian, in his address before several hundred people who gathered at the site of the old fort in East Macon this afternoon. The unveiling ceremony was simple, consisting of a prayer by Rev. J. G. Christian, followed by the removal of the flag from the marble slab.

Mrs. Sophie B. Foster, state regent, who presided over the exercises, introduced Mr. Knight, who related some of the early history of Bibb county.

Mr. Knight told of the erection of Fort Hawkins and the growth of the settlement in this vicinity. It retained the name of Fort Hawkins until 1821, when the name of New Town was adopted, only later to be changed to Macon.

Benjamin Hawkins, for whom the fort was named, was a member of General Washington's staff and was sent to Georgia to treat with the Indians and open up the country. Among the famous men who have visited the site are Marquis Lafayette, Desoto and his men and General Oglethorpe.

Following the address a chorus of school children sang "Old Red Hills of Georgia."

Delegates Given Luncheon.

One of the most elaborate affairs of the season in Macon was the luncheon served today at noon at the Dempsey winter garden to the delegates to the Daughters of the American Revolution conference. The big table was in the shape of a triangle and in the center a miniature Fort Hawkins made of flowers. Each place was marked with a miniature of Fort Hawkins. Covers were laid for 300 guests. The luncheon was put on by the Nathaniel Macon chapter, which is the host of the visitors.

Wednesday at noon the Mary Hammond Washington chapter of Macon will be the host at a luncheon at the Dempsey and the idea of Georgia's early history will be carried out. One of the principal entertainment features of the conference will be the historical pageant to be put on at Wesleyan college Wednesday night, when more than 200 persons will portray in human motion pictures the early history of the state.

The entire delegation was entertained this afternoon at an elaborate social affair as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Winship at their handsome home on College street.

NEW TAX LAW DISCUSSED BY J. C. HART AT CORDELE

Cordele, Ga., February 17.—(Special.) In an able address, Judge John C. Hart, state tax commissioner, thoroughly discussed the new tax law before a very representative gathering of farmers and others at the Crisp county courthouse yesterday afternoon. He spoke very encouragingly of the complete success of the new law this year and expressed hope that the current debt of approximately $1,280,000 would be lifted before another year and the tax rate of the state be lowered to 3 or 3 1-2 mills, which he declared would eventually come about as a result of equal taxation and the taxation of the six-sevenths of the taxable property of the state on which taxes had never been collected by the old "pass around the hat" system.

HID IN THE MOVIES, THEN GOT MARRIED

Miss Lucy Leathers Outwits Parents and Weds Robert Klebold.

After hiding in moving picture shows all Tuesday afternoon lest members of her family, who objected to the match, discover her, Miss Lucy Leathers, daughter of S. E. Leathers, of 125 Washington street, met Robert Klebold at Brown & Allen's corner and the pair slipped away to the residence of Rev. J. D. Upshaw, who married them last night at 8 o'clock.

The young couple had been sweethearts for a year, and two weeks ago set Tuesday night as the time for their wedding.

Tuesday when Miss Leathers, who was stenographer for the Atlanta Leather company, started to her work she carried her suit case with her, hidden under her coat, and left it at the Benjamin pharmacy, at Whitehall and Mitchell streets.

After lunch Miss Leathers did not return to work, but took in the "movies" until the hour of the tryst with her fiance, whom she met late in the afternoon.

The license had already been secured by a friend, but the minister was yet lacking. So Klebold left his bride-to-be with Harry Beddingfield, a friend, who was in the know of the runaway match, while he went in search for another friend, Ernest Upshaw. Ernest was a friend indeed, for being the son of the minister who later married them, he could make the necessary arrangements.

Young Upshaw being found, he and the groom rejoined the bride and Beddingfield at the Brown & Allen corner, where by that time they had been joined by Marshall Billington and B. G. Green.

To make a long story short they hied them away to the home of Rev. Upshaw, 325 Oak street, where the knot was tied, and the couple went to the home of the groom's uncle, on DeKalb avenue.

Mr. Klebold is city salesman for Montag Bros.

PHYSICAL DIRECTOR NEEDED AT SEWANEE

The need of a physical director and the advisability of creating such a place at the University of the South, Sewanee, was discussed at the meeting of the board of regents last night. The movement was started following a general discussion of the needs of the university, and was given impetus when the members of the Atlanta alumni boomed the movement and also launched plans for increasing the membership.

There were present at the meeting Bishop C. E. Woodcock, of Kentucky; Bishop F. F. Reese, of Georgia; Dr. John Hodgson, of New York; Dudley Gale, of Nashville, and B. F. Finney, of Sewanee. Aside from the members of the board more than fifteen members of the Atlanta alumni association were present.

It was the regular monthly meeting of the board. Aside from the discussions there was little to demand the attention of the board except the movement to have a physical director engaged to train students throughout the year. The movement was unanimously indorsed by the board.

The meeting was held at the home of Samuel C. Prim, 305 West Peachtree street.

MASK BALL OF GERMANS PROVES BIG SUCCESS

The masquerade ball last night given by the Atlanta German-American society, Herman Steinichen, president, at the Atlanta Turn Verein hall was largely attended and proved one of the most enjoyable social events Atlanta's German-Americans have had since the formation of the association.

An unusual, an extremely rare picture was presented on one side of the large auditorium where the dancing lasted until early morning. One side of the auditorium had been divided into booths, each of which had been profusely decorated with flowers and bunting, no two were alike.

The dancing in mask began at 9 o'clock with the grand march and continued until 11:30 when the trumpet for unmasking was sounded. The dancers dropped their disguises and there were many surprises when the unknown, because of the masks, became known.

BOARD OF REGENTS OF UNIVERSITY MEET

The board of regents of the University of the South held their semi-annual session at the Piedmont hotel Tuesday. They announced the installation of the Right Rev. Albion Williamson Knight, D. D., as vice chancellor of the University of the South, installation to be held in All Saints' chapel, Sewanee, Tenn., April 13.

The bishops' session ended yesterday afternoon. Those in attendance were as follows:

Bishop Nelson, of Atlanta; Bishop Thomas F. Gailor, Tennessee; Bishop F. F. Reese, Savannah; Bishop E. A. Woodcock, Kentucky; Dr. Stewart McQueen, Montgomery; Rev. C. M. Davis, St. Louis, Mo.; Rev. S. T. Wright, Sewanee, Tenn.; W. D. Gale, Nashville; Dr. J. H. P. Hodgson, New York city; Benjamin F. Finney, Boston; Dr. W. L. Polk, New York city; J. Stanton Whaley, South Carolina.

ATLANTA GRAYS WILL GO TO MOBILE CARNIVAL

The Atlanta Grays, of Company K, of the Fifth Georgia infantry, have accepted the invitation of Emperor Felix III. to be his bodyguard and take the place of honor in the Felix parade on Monday, February 23, at the Mobile Mardi Gras. The Grays, under the command of Captain Charles A. Stokes, will leave for Mobile Saturday night. The parade will be a big affair, and it is a pleasure to Atlantans to note that the Grays have been assigned the post of honor.

GRAND LODGE A. O. G. WILL GIVE A GRAND BALL

The Grand Lodge A. O. G. will hold a special charity ball at the Kimball house Friday evening, February 27. It will be known as "Dixie's" greatest charity ball. The committee on arrangement are leaving no stone unturned to give the public one of the best and biggest balls of the social season. All the late and modern dances will be on the program. Ladies will be admitted free. The public is invited.

Lecture Postponed.

Professor Thomas L. Bryan's lecture at the Edgewood Baptist church has been postponed until February 26. The postponement was necessitated through the fact that an entertainment was scheduled for the Edgewood school on Thursday night, the date originally set for the discourse.

Fiddlers Will Check Weapons Before Big Contest Begins

There'll be a tuning and tightening and a whittling of wooden bridges at the Auditorium-Armory today, and the notes of many a country breakdown will float through the corridors. The Old Time Fiddlers' association, fifty strong, will gather this afternoon for a bit of practice preparatory to the grand opening of their annual convention tonight.

From away up in Rabun county will come the crack fiddlers of the mountains and the pinewoods of south Georgia will send the best musicians the wiregrass can boast. Middle Georgia will be represented by half a dozen or more experts of the bow, and even Atlanta, forgetting its operatic airs for the once, will enter a fiddler or two in the contest for the state championship.

Seats went on sale Tuesday at Shepard's cigar store, North Pryor street and Edgewood avenue, and the Daughters of the Confederacy have been pleased to learn that the demand for reserved seats threatened to exhaust the supply. But the Auditorium-Armory is big, and the convention continues four nights, so nobdy should be crowded out.

The judges invited to pass upon the music of the rival fiddlers will have no easy task, but Judge "Dick" Russell, Judge "Andy" Calhoun, Colonel William L. Peel, Colonel Robert J. Lowry and Colonel Eb T. Williams are facing their ordeal with feelings of mingled pleasure and fear. There have been instances, as shown in the annals of Georgia courts, where an adverse decision in a fiddling contest has proved that a man may be as handy with a gun as with a fiddle bow. But the contestants have agreed to check all arms at the cloak room.

ROTARIANS FAVOR NEGRO HOSPITAL

Resolutions Adopted Asking the Mayor to Take Steps to Provide One.

Following a speech by Victor Kreigshaber at the semi-monthly Rotary club luncheon at the Winecoff hotel yesterday afternoon, and after numerous resolutions passed by the club, President Hubert Anderson appointed a committee composed of Mr. Kreigshaber, Frederic J. Paxon, F. O. Foster, Ivan E. Allen and Rockwell Johnson, to take steps to urge upon the mayor and council the necessity of providing a permanent hospital in Atlanta for caring for colored people suffering with contagious diseases.

The object of the committee and the club will be not only to work themselves with that object in view, but to have other organizations interested in civic welfare take it up and to bring such pressure on the mayor and council as may be done in a proper way to assure the establishment of such a hospital within a year at the latest. Mr. Kreigshaber's address was not in any sense an attack on council, but rather an appeal to the community as a whole to take action upon a question which involves the vital welfare of all classes. Disease, as he pointed out, recognizes no race or caste or boundary line.

The Rotary luncheon was one of the most largely attended the organization has yet held. The Winecoff management presented the members of the club as souvenirs with the handsome plates from which the lunceon had been served.

As the Savannah Rotary club was holding its first big social function last night Secretary Howard Geldert, of the Atlanta club, was instructed to send a telegram of congratulations to the newly organized Savannah Rotarians.

SPRING IS ON THE WAY BY ALL THE SIGNS

The local weather sharps are making good on their predictions that, before the week is out, Atlanta will again be embraced by Fair Spring.

Today this vicinity is promised more warmth and better wind conditions. It will also be clear.

Tuesday the thermometer started to climb toward the top of the bulb shortly after noon. By nightfall overcoats were a burden.

A repetition of Tuesday is scheduled for today, plus the fact that it will be warmer.

LIVED WITH HUSBAND TWO DAYS, NOW SUES

Mrs. Maggie Duane filed divorce suit in the superior court on Tuesday against her husband, J. H. Duane, in which she avers that she was married on October 18, 1913, and lived with her husband just two days before he began beating her.

The wife claims her husband had been indicted for his cruelty, but skipped to Chicago to avoid arrest.

$15,000 IS DIVERTED TO DISPOSAL PLANT

Money Will Be Used to Complete the Intrenchment Creek Sewer Work.

Authority has been given by the sewer committee and bond commission to City Comptroller Goldsmith to divert $15,000 due the estate of Chester A. Dady, bankrupt contractor, to the fund for the use of the city in purchasing materials for the completion of the Intrenchment creek sewer disposal plant.

Dady was awarded the contract for building the Peachtree and the Intrenchment creek plants. He filed a petition in bankruptcy before the Peachtree plant was completed and the federal court appointed M. F. Sullivan, of Chattanooga, trustee of the Dady estate. The company which signed as surety on the bond of Dady agreed to furnish the funds for carrying out the contract under the administration of Trustee Sullivan.

Since the completion of the Peachtree creek plant about $15,000 has accumulated to the credit of Dady on that contract, but under the agreement the city has with the bonding company the money must be used to carry on the work on the Intrenchment creek plant, which is nearly complete.

City Comptroller Goldsmith refused to pay out any part of the $15,000 now in the possession of the city to the credit of Dady on his Peachtree plant contract, and in accordance with opinion rendered by City Attorney James L. Mayson the sewer committee and bond commission met in joint session and authorized the comptroller to divert the fund from one contract to the other.

The money does not come from the current revenue of the city, but it is a part of the bond issue money voted by the people for the specific purpose of erecting sewage plants and building and extending trunk and lateral sewers.

PARENTS IN LEGAL WAR OVER 4-YEAR-OLD SON

Savannah, Ga., February 17.—(Special.)—A fierce legal battle for the custody of a 4-year-old flaxen-haired boy was waged in the superior court today.

W. A. Jones, father of the boy, and an engineer on the Central of Georgia railway, is suing his wife for divorce, alleging misconduct on her part at Tybee, Savannah's coast resort. J. L. Summerlin is named as co-respondent. Mrs. Jones denies all charges, and her attorneys declared at the trial today that Jones had at least fifteen women "on the string."

Jones wants possession of the child, and it is this feature of the case which is attracting most attention.

OUR ANNUAL WRANGLE.

The people and the council of Atlanta have no cause to be proud of the present squabble over the semi-annual apportionment sheet.

The spectacle does not reflect credit upon the dignity of the municipality, and it is a manifest indictment of our slipshod methods of doing business.

Each year the "pull-Dick-pull-devil" scrapfest recurs.

If it is not one element in council that feels it is being "stung" it is another.

One of the controlling causes back of the whole petty business is the apparent poverty of a rich city.

We have rocked along for many years trying to make current revenue take care of current needs and growth also.

That policy violates all economic laws of municipalities. If applied to an ordinary business house it would spell stagnation or bankruptcy.

It is just about time that Atlanta considered seriously rearranging her fiscal system.

In the first place, we have a borrowing capacity of several millions, which can be drawn upon with no possibility of extravagance or looting.

In the second, many of the improvements over which controversy now is raging are essentially of a permanent nature. They are of the sort in the payment of which posterity should stand a share.

The temporary crisis can, and should, be met by the contending factions developing a spirit of concession.

But the permanent remedy is deeper-lying, and demands the best thought of the Atlantans who view the welfare of this city in the dimensions of tomorrow no less than those of today.

HONORING MR. MADDOX.

The election of Robert F. Maddox, of Atlanta, as one of the four vice presidents of the United States Chamber of Commerce is a tribute to Mr. Maddox personally and to the state of Georgia.

During its relatively brief history the chamber of commerce has become one of the most effectual forces for sound development and progress in the country.

It keeps a finger on the pulse of commerce, legislation and public sentiment.

It seeks to amalgamate and make healthy the sentiment for ethical business methods and to break down the geographical barriers that have in times past militated against the best business interests of all the sections.

The selection of Mr. Maddox as a vice president means that the guiding spirits of the organization recognize in him an effectual type of the new southern business man, aggressive, intelligent and broad-minded.

It is also significant that John H. Reynolds, of Rome, Ga., should have been chosen as a director of the chamber of commerce.

Mr. Reynolds is a veteran of finance, a man of proved conservatism and common sense.

These two active Georgians will render constructive service both to the organization that has honored them and to their home state.

A MOUNTAIN PARK.

It is hoped that the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, as well as the state chamber, will see their way clear to put their influence back of the movement for a national park in the Appalachian mountains. George S. Powell, secretary of the Appalachian Park association, has been visiting Atlanta, striving to enlist influence here for the project, and it is one that deserves to succeed.

Throughout the southern Blue Ridge are views that, from the scenic point of view, and as regards rugged wildness, almost approach the famed glories of Switzerland.

North Georgia has its share of these places, and they abound in North Carolina and portions of eastern Tennessee.

Development has gone forward at such a magic pace in the eastern half of the country that the aesthetic phase has been measurably neglected.

It is time to remedy this oversight while yet suitable sites may be secured.

The people of the south deserve a gigantic playground at the hands of the federal government.

The money expended in its purchase and improvement would accomplish more good than half the "pork" sunk in political rivers and harbors bills.

HOME TO HIS PEOPLE.

Atlanta will today do honor to the memory of the late United States Senator A. O. Bacon. For several hours his body will lie in state in Georgia's capitol and the people who know the service he rendered the commonwealth and who revere the splendid character of the man will claim the melancholy privilege of paying him final homage.

Only those Georgians who have kept pace with the swift development of our international policies realize the manner in which the statesmanship of Senator Bacon loomed large.

His entire senatorial tenure was characterized by sound and able service. But it was after he became chairman of the foreign relations committee that he displayed his most signal usefulness.

In this field he was a counsellor sought by the president, the secretary of state and the men who make sentiment in both branches of congress.

His knowledge of our foreign relations was encyclopedic. His judgment was sure and wholesome. He never leaped to conclusions. Naturally conservative of temperament, he always appreciated the weight of responsibility that rested on his shoulders. When the unwritten history of the Japanese and Mexican incidents shall come to be told it will be found that the ripe opinions and calm poise of Senator Bacon were instrumental factors in shaping and making dignified and effective our policies.

His record in the public life of Georgia is a luminous one. His record as a confederate soldier is one of honor, distinction, devotion, bravery.

He was not spectacular, theatrical or seeking meretricious honors. But his concept of statesmanship blended an integrity and breadth sufficiently rare in these days of egotism and superficiality.

He has come home to his people. The honors paid him will be rare and heartfelt. For upon the minds of personal friends and upon the printed page of history he has left an abiding imprint of genuineness of spirit and consecration of purpose.

A LIVE ORGANIZATION.

The Decatur Board of Trade, which is one of the livest commercial organizations in the state, held an important meeting the other evening.

The object was to discuss progress made and plan for the future.

Among the policies advocated most vigorously was the attracting of the desirable sort of farming immigrants to DeKalb.

The idea is an excellent one. DeKalb is one of the best truck counties in the state. Its proximity to Atlanta affords it a profitable year-round market.

In the past few years Decatur and DeKalb have made wonderful strides, not alone as the center of a magnificent agricultural section, but also as a beautiful and ornate residential district.

Its future in these two directions is one of promise. The board of trade, as it now is constituted, is admirably equipped to expedite development.

If the proposed music trust becomes a reality stockholders may have to fork over the high notes.

The old-time Georgia fiddlers will be equal to the new-time Prosperity Reel.

The rich are safe, for they can hire others to go insane from figuring on their income tax.

It is said that up to date your Uncle Andy C. has given $2,000,000 to keep Peace in the public prints.

One reason Father is interested in the fashion notes is because with him they are generally of the $50 variety.

What wouldn't certain platform orators give for the free advance notices of the modest and retiring Mr. Ground Hog.

Occasionally they put a dress suit on the republican party and parade it in a magazine; but for all that the reader can hear the broken bones rattling.

Huerta invites newspaper men to visit him, but there is no evidence that he has tipped any special favorite as to when the house is going to fall.

They'll probably know what the Colonel wants when they have nominated him for everything he isn't after.

Don't worry about "real" spring; even a cheap imitation would be welcomed.

Anyway, the prisons where Huerta keeps his army are pretty well fortified.

Huerta's dream-armies are still on dress parade, in paper uniforms.

When You Keep the Fiddle Goin'.

I.

Keep the fiddle playin',
Tribulation's out o' sight,
The halleluia feelin' keeps the world a-rollin' right;
The Day is jest a-dancin' to a hands-'roun' with the Night
An' Jordan ain't a hard road to travel!

II.

When you keep the fiddle goin', then yer life is hard to beat,
Fer you're ready fer the dancin' with yer honey, smilin' sweet;
You'll think the whole, glad country is a-pattin' of its feet
An' Jordan ain't a hard road to travel.

III.

Fer I'm tellin' you the plainest—you kin write it on the wall—
A fiddle knows the language of the springtime an' the fall;
The joy that thrills creation—any fiddle's got it all,
An' Jordan ain't a hard road to travel!

"Dem January Melons."

A news item carried the story of a feast of watermelons in January, the melons having been picked by a Delaware farmer in August, and preserved in a dry, warm room. Hearing a rumor of this a Georgia darkey said:

"I done thought de age of mericles wuz past an' gone, but, who kin onderstan' de movements of Providence? Boss, how fur is it ter de place o' dem January melons? An' does you reckon I could walk it?"

His brow all seamed with wrinkles—his hair a-growin' white,
I'm castin' up no columns to meet the income plan,
Jes' hit the road, as usual—I'm the Lord's poor man!

II.

Accordin' to the figures I'm allus dollar-poor,
But rich in lots o' livin' things—the sunlight's in the door,

An' I hear a woman singin', an' I whistle off my sighs.

III.

Contented? Well, I reckon that I've happiness to spare,
Though I'd help to bear the burdens of each groanin' millionaire;
The very richest of 'em would give their house an' lan'
For the joy that makes life sweeter for the Lord's poor man!

The Secret.

Spring knows the way
And she'll come when she will—
Whisper a secret
To valley and hill;
You reckon they'll keep it?
When seed break the ground
The roses will murmur
That secret all 'round.

The rivers will tell it
To meadow-lands nigh,
And south-winds will send it
In joy to the sky;
And what is it, Lady,—
That secret so true?
No Spring loves the earth

A "Moonshine" Hint.

Timely advice to prospective radium-seekers, by the "moonshine" man of The Kansas City Star:

"Any prospector who goes into the Ozarks looking for radium, following Thomas A. Edison's suggestion, should be careful not to say anything about radium. The moonshiners might misunderstand, and think he said something about raiding 'em."

The Great Trials of History

TRIAL OF THE MAFIA.

It is close to twenty-three years ago that the death-knell of the Mafia in America was sounded, rung by best citizens of New Orleans in their fury of what they believed was a miscarriage of justice. This organization was originally a political one in Italy, but in this country it had degenerated to a band of assassins. New Orleans, in a measure, was its headquarters, and this city found the most difficulty in its suppression, and it was the people and not the law that brought it about.

The means to the end of the organization was the murder of Chief of Police David C. Hennessy, of New Orleans. The Mafia, or rather the Stopagherra, the proper name of the order, consisted of a large number of Italians, mostly Sicilian by birth, their early leader having been Giuseppe Esposito, who had been driven out of his own country by the Italian government. There had been a number of assassinations in New Orleans that were traceable to this organization, but no arrests had been made, for so secretly did the body work that it was impossible to detect them.

The capture of the brigand Esposito in 1881, and his surrender to the Italian government, resulted in several killings. The Stopagherra determined to avenge the betrayer of their comrade. Engrossed in his search to weed out this murderous organization, Chief of Police Hennessy had no idea that he was being watched. He probably knew nothing of a certain Italian neighbor of his, Monasterio by name, lately arrived from abroad, occupying a shanty fifty yards from his house.

It was nearly time for Hennessy to spring the trap and to make a full exposure, when late one evening, as he drew near home, a boy ran in front of him and gave a peculiar whistle. The next moment the chief was a dying man. Bullets tore three cruel rents in his chest and abdomen, his right knee and his left hand was shot through, and his face, arms and neck were frightfully mutilated.

Within ten minutes of the shooting the immigrant was seized in his shanty. Other arrests followed, but only eleven were held and only nine finally prosecuted. The trial proved that Hennessy's assassins hid in Monasterio's hut, and that an Italian boy was posted to notify them of Hennessy's approach. The deadly weapons were found, six shotguns, five with barrels sawed off and stocks hinged so that they could be doubled up and carried under the clothing.

Hennessy had been murdered on October 15, 1890, and the Italians who were arrested in connection with the deed remained in prison until the early part of March of the following year when they were placed on trial before Judge Baker, the hearing of evidence requiring about a week. A verdict was rendered on Friday, March 13, 1891.

The judge, usually imperturbable, was observed, when the paper was handed him, to look at it for a moment in stupefaction. No wonder. Six of the culprits were acquitted; in the case of three the jury disagreed, and not one was convicted. Some whispered "bribery," others "intimidation," but all agreed that such a fiasco was an outrage.

Awaiting a trial upon a second indictment, and joyfully reckoning upon a similar result next time, the accused were again locked in their cells. At the moment the doors closed behind them a vigilance committee of well-known citizens were writing a call for a mass meeting for the following morning at the Clay Statue in the New Orleans square.

The assemblage was so large at this meeting that it blocked the street cars and climbed upon them. What was the outcome of this meeting? The citizens took the law in their own hands. A mob—but in good order—started for the parish prison where the prisoners were confined. They battered down the doors. Nine of the prisoners were put to death in various ways by the mob, and two of them were hanged outside of the prison walls.

The press had unanimously denounced the verdict and declared that the jury had been bought. The grand jury, even on the day of the mob killing, had found indictments against two men charged with tampering with the jury. The jurors did not appreciate the public sentiment on the outside and were surprised at the popular indignation. The trial of the case had cost the city more than $30,000 and then a miscarriage of justice.

The incident opened grave international complications which Secretary of State Blaine handled with skill. Twenty-five thousand dollars was finally distributed among the families of the murdered men. On March 17, three days after the prisoners were disposed of, several arrests were made for bribery of the jury, and on May 5, the grand jury, after an investigation for six weeks, indicted O'Malley and five associates for jury bribing, and accused three of the jury of being bribed; but refused to indict the lynchers. On July 8, Bernard Glaudi was convicted of offering to bribe a juror. On July 24, the last Mafia bribery case was ended with a verdict of not guilty, and on October 9, the state abandoned the case against O'Malley, which finally settled the whole affair.

BACON

A statesman of heroic mold
With soul and heart as pure as gold
Has gone beneath the silent sod
Alone with glory and his God!

In every phase of human life
He did his duty in each strife
And loved his country, pure and free,
From mountain to the sounding sea.

His mind was broad and deep and high
And lofty as the starlit sky
And soared above all party lines—
Magnolia blooms or northern pines.

Peace to his ashes, rest his soul;
He finds at last the heavenly goal
And reigns within eternal day,
Now bivouacs with the Blue and Gray!

A Story of the Moment

By WALT MASON,
The Famous Prose Poet.

PEOPLE ARE DIFFERENT.

"Why have you got that wet towel around your head?" inquired the low browed man.

"I have a sick headache," replied the professor, wearily, "and the anguish is almost unendurable."

"It beats all how you can sit there and use such polite language if you have the real old stingo in the way of a sick headache. I'm surprised that you didn't throw that bottle of medicine at my head and tell me to chase myself. The more I see of you, professor, the more I'm astonished. You're not like any human being I know.

"Every now and then I have a three cornered headache that makes me see green. I always have a bad one on the fifth of July, and on the Wednesday after the first Tuesday following the first Monday in November. I don't wear a very big hat, and it's surprising how much ache my head will hold when the signs are right. I believe I've had eight bushels of solid pain under my roof at one time, and when that happens it isn't safe to approach me, unless you have a police escort. It drives me to a frenzy to have people come around and ask questions, and nobody ever does it twice. The last time I had a headache was just after the circus last fall. I was seated in my bedroom, by the window, wishing I had died before three-ringed shows were invented. Old Gooseworthy came along and saw me sitting there, and he looked up and asked what was the matter. Now, I think a whole lot of Gooseworthy and at ordinary times would take pleasure in thinking up answers to his conundrums, but his simple question just then caused a brainstorm on my part, and I threw a big crockery water pitcher at him, and it broke on his head. I've apologized a dozen times since, and tried in every way to regain his esteem and confidence, but he doesn't seem to think as much of me as he used to.

"My Aunt Julia has a headache about once a fortnight, and I dread to see her sufferings begin. She wraps her dome of thought in a lot of muslin and calico, and pulls down all the blinds, and sits in a dark room, snuffing at a bottle full of camphor. When I enter the house on such occasions I have to take my shoes off and go around on tiptoe, and no matter how silently I do it, Aunt Julia insists that I am making racket enough to wake the dead, and that I'm trying to send her to an untimely grave. It always makes my blood run cold when she pushes her bandaged head into the kitchen with a Lady Macbeth look on her face, and asks me if I can't possibly move without upsetting all the furniture and stepping on the cat. That's her way of relieving the agony.

"Old Doolittle has a back action headache every ten days or so. He persists in eating things he shouldn't eat, and it goes to his head. At ordinary times he's a mighty fine man. He never troubles his neighbors, and is very considerate. But as soon as his headache comes on he has his wife stand at the telephone by the hour, calling up all the neighbors within six blocks, and asking them if they haven't any pills or liniment or dope that's good for the headache. About midnight his wife comes over to our house and kicks the door in, and says her husband is in convulsions, and I'll have to go over and help hold him down. My aunt always sides with Mrs. Doolittle on such occasions, and I have to put on my uniform and go drilling over there in the darkness, and I always run up against the clothesline and jerk my head loose.

"In the morning the old man's all right again, and spends the next few days apologizing to everybody for causing so much trouble, and he seems so full of remorse that a man hates to tell him what an old piker he is.

"When my aunt's sister was here last summer she had a stem winding headache of the jumping variety, and at every jump she let out a yell. All the neighbors came over to see who was being murdered, and the policeman on the corner sent in a riot call, and——"

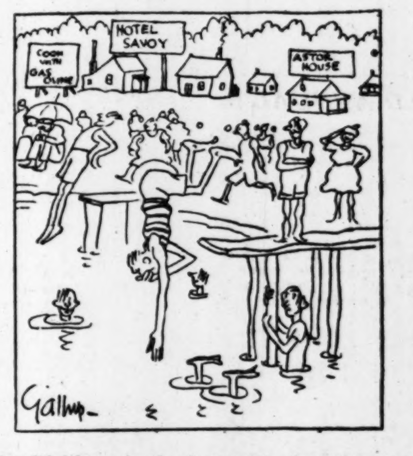
"I have a vague recollection of telling you that I have a headache," sighed the professor.

THE GREAT LAKES.

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

So long as the Great Lakes exist, the United States of America need not worry about its supply of drinking water. No nation in the world is so lavishly supplied with pure, fresh water. And yet, in every great city, which borders on these remarkable lakes, men can be seen rushing by thousands to slake their thirst with something else.

The Great Lakes are five in number and can be drunk with impunity, without being boiled. They form the largest collection of unsalted wetness in the world, and all of England could be put to soak in them. From the western end of Lake Superior, adventurers can sail almost 1,500 miles before Lake Ontario peters out into the St. Lawrence river. Much caution must be observed in doing this, for three reasons. In the first place, Lake Superior falls all over itself getting into Lake Huron; in the second place Lake Erie, after flowing gently past Buffalo, suddenly drops 160 feet at Niagara, with a tremendous concussion. In the third place, the Great Lakes, when irritated, take delight in piling the most ponderous vessels bottom up on top of each other along its shores. The Great Lakes would only make a little patch of wetness in the ocean, but they have a way of standing a ship on its extreme end and of promoting sea-sickness in all of its forms, which even the ocean cannot surpass.



Lake Michigan is the largest bath tub in the world.

The Great Lakes form a wide and generally ample boundary between the United States and Canada and the two governments have improved the rough spots in them with canals. Because of this, the lakes now resemble a torch light procession in the busy season and more vessels pass Detroit than will ever go through the Panama Canal. Owing to the low freight rates, good fishing and cool summer breezes, enormous cities have grown up along the Great Lakes, including Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Milwaukee, Buffalo, Toledo, Toronto and Duluth. These cities now have almost 5,000,000 population, but one hundred years ago there weren't enough people in all of them together to influence a ward caucus in the slightest degree.

Lake Superior is the largest of the Great Lakes. It has 29,000 square miles, is 900 feet deep and is so cold that steam heat is handy all summer around its shore. Lake Michigan is a long, deep lake, which is being borrowed by Chicago for the purpose of flushing its sewer system and now flows into the Gulf of Mexico as well as the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Lake Michigan is almost completely surrounded with summer cottages and is the largest bath tub in the world. Lake Huron is shaped like a puddle of ink and serves to protect Michigan's peach orchards from the northwest storms. Lake Erie is as shallow as a society preacher, is lined with steel mills and contains the largest fresh water steamers in captivity. Lake Ontario has a pronounced Canadian accent along its north shores and is the only one of the five not infested with ore boats.

The Great Lakes freeze up in the winter, both in their native element and in the plumbing of the million homes, but in summer they are as beautiful as they are useful, and the North Central states would be dull and uninteresting without them.

KITCHEN RULES.

Mrs. Young had not liked her middle-aged, next door neighbor over much when that lady had called on her, but now that the young wife had sprained her ankle and must sit in her sewing chair for a few days, she found this same "persnickety neat old woman" a comfort and a help. For no girl could be had in the small town, and she came in cheerfully and put the little cottage in order in half the time it took the little bride.

She liked to come, too, and as she straightened things about, she said: "Never scrub your oil cloths if you want them to last; wipe them with a soapy flannel cloth and dry them. And do tell, do you scrub this linoleum with a brush? Well, now, if I had such a floor covering I'd use it ten years before it'd be as scratched as this, and you haven't had this ten weeks. You had ought to wipe it off with a mop and hot suds, and then dry it—but no brush. Then, when it gets dim, you just give it a coat of varnish and it will last your whole life, most.

"And these here steel knives must have been damp when you put them away; they had ought to a been wrapped in paper to keep them dry. But now that they are rusted, I'd just admire to clean them, if you won't be spited."

Permission given, she sifted a few ashes and hunted up two corks; one she wet and dipped into the powder and scoured the knives with, the other she used for a polisher. The knives' silver handles she brightened with a chamois. Her tongue ran on: "Most folks ruin nice knives like these by wiping them on a towel. That always leaves damp streaks. They should be rubbed with soft, dry paper, and laid on a tray until they look dry.

"They should never be used about the stove; if you have no steel knife for cleaning your pans, use a nice clam shell. It's worth ten knives, anyhow, for scraping."

The embarrassment Mrs. Young felt at having her careless housekeeping pointed out so bluntly had to melt away when she saw the neat old lady delighted to put her kitchen things in order. Soon she was asking how to care for her tins and porcelain utensils.

"These tins are dull because you didn't use hot suds and hot rinsing water. Most likely you dried them in the oven after you washed them. Tins have got to be washed in hot, clean suds and scalded, and then rubbed with a dry cloth, to be kept bright.

"Whiting is the best polisher; put a little on a flannel rag and rub it on with plenty of elbow grease and they will look new, right along."

"Thanks," said Mrs. Young, "and how about the heavy iron skillets; they are so hard on my hands?"

"Like as not," sniffed her neighbor. "You haven't no sal soda? Well, you must keep that on hand, and after your tins and porcelains are washed and dried and put away, put a lump of that in the water and scrub your iron ware with it and a long handled brush. Rinse in hot water and dry on the stove. Clean frying pans look gray; yours look black and oily. I'll just clean 'em up for you and then you'll have no trouble to keep them that way.

"When there is any grease in the pans or on the griddle wipe it off with a wad of paper before washing.

"There is hardly anything in the kitchen that helps so much as plenty of clean, soft paper."

"If you will come often," said Mrs. Young, "perhaps I will learn after all to keep my nice things in order."

"Shucks, don't you worry a bit about learning," comforted the good old lady. "Why, don't you suppose some one had to tell me these things."

FAVORITE RECIPES OF DISTINGUISHED WOMEN

By MRS. WYATT AIKEN,
Wife of Representative Aiken, of South Carolina.

A number of years ago, a gentleman from South Carolina purchased a recipe in a restaurant in Paris, which took his fancy, paying ten dollars for it. The same recipe was afterwards contributed by a lady of the same state to the cook book compiled by the ladies of Yorkville, South Carolina, and it has been tested and tried many times and maintains its popularity by its excellence.

Make it after this formula:

Chocolate Polonaise.

One and one-half pounds almonds, 3 dozen macaroons, 6 eggs, 2 tablespoons of cornstarch, 1 pound citron, 3 squares of chocolate, 1 1-2 pints milk.

Blanch and pound almonds, adding a few drops of essence of bitter almonds. Cut the citron in fine strips and pound. Grate chocolate and pound macaroons. Boil the milk and add it to the yolks of the eggs, which have been well beaten. Then add the cornstarch, first dissolving it in a little cold water, and being careful to stir the mixture all the while. Let this cook until quite thick. Pour half of this into a soup plate, and to the other half add the chocolate and macaroons. Put back on the fire and let chocolate mixture cook a few minutes. With the other half, mix the almonds and citron, adding a little sugar. Make a good sponge cake the day before the dessert is to be used of 8 eggs, half their weight in flour, and their full weight in sugar. Slice the cake in thin layers and place the filling between them in alternate order. Then ice the polonaise all over. This is truly delicious.

Placed.

Teacher—Now, James, do you understand the meaning of the word "extinct?"

James—Yes'm.

Teacher—Then name one bird that is now extinct.

James—Chipper.

Teacher—Chipper? What kind of bird is that?

James—My pet pigeon. The cat caught him this morning.

GORE AND WOMAN SCORED TO JURY

Attorneys Are Summing Up and Case Will Be Submitted Today—Woman's Attorney Accuses Gore of Lying.

Oklahoma City, Okla., February, 17.—Six of the twelve hours allotted for argument in the damage suit brought by Mrs. Minnie E. Bond, of Oklahoma City, against United States Senator Thomas P. Gore had been consumed when court adjourned today, and, unless some unforeseen contingency prevents, the case will be submitted to the jury late tomorrow.

Two attorneys spoke today for the plaintiff, and one for the defense. Neither spared the parties to the suit, and both Senator Gore and Mrs. Bond, as well as those characterized by Senator Gore as "disgruntled politicians whose pleadings for pie were unanswered," and who the defense charges engineered the suit, were severely arraigned.

No Evidence in Rebuttal.

Summing up began after Judge Clark read his instructions to the jury at the opening of court, counsel for Mrs. Bond announcing that they would not exercise their privilege of presenting additional evidence in rebuttal.

Before court convened it was understood that at least three witnesses would be called today, among them James R. Jacobs, in whose room at a Washington hotel the alleged attack, which Mrs. Bond cites as the basis for her suit, is said to have occurred last March. No explanation other than that they considered their case established was given by Mrs. Bond's counsel for ending the evidence.

E. J. Giddings, attorney for the plaintiff, who opened the argument, declared the contention of the defense that the senator had been made the victim of a conspiracy was without foundation.

"Why, after nine months, has no effort been made to have the alleged conspirators arrested?" he asked the jury. "And is it not true to impute to another a crime a criminal act in itself?"

Mrs. Bond and Mrs. Gore.

He described Mrs. Bond as a "plain woman, the daughter of a simple farmer," and challenged counsel for Senator Gore "to show from the records where this woman has once stepped aside from the path of virtue."

Turning from the jury and pointing first to Mrs. Gore and then Mrs. Bond, Giddings exclaimed:

"Look at these two women and note the difference in them. One is garbed in rich garments, the other is a plain woman, the daughter of a simple farmer. There sit her parents, simple, honest people from the farm. Such people don't frame up conspiracies, such as charged in this case."

"Even though he be a United States senator," Giddings shouted, "I say that Senator Gore is lying when he says that Mrs. Bond improperly approached him."

The senator testified that Mrs. Bond seized him while they were discussing the possibility of the appointment of her husband to a federal position.

Disappointed Candidates.

Norman Pruett who spoke for Senator Gore, denounced the witnesses for Mrs. Bond, who, he pointed out, were disappointed candidates for federal patronage either directly or indirectly at the hands of Senator Gore.

Ross Lillard, of counsel for Mrs. Bond, caused surprise when in the course of his argument he scored Jacobs.

"The action of Jacobs toward Mrs. Bond on the day of the hotel occurrence was inexcusable," Lillard declared. "He betrayed her confidence when he failed to go to his room with her and Senator Gore."

Other than this, no reason has been given why Jacobs, former democratic national committeeman from Indian Territory, and regarded as one of the most important witnesses summoned by the plaintiff, was not called upon to testify.

Attorneys for both parties to the suit expressed themselves as satisfied with the instructions of the court to the jury. Judge Clark devoted himself almost entirely to setting forth what constituted a conspiracy under the Oklahoma statutes, and instructing the jurors that the past character of neither Senator Gore nor Mrs. Bond should influence them, confining themselves to the direct allegations in Mrs. Bond's petition and Senator Gore's counter charge of conspiracy.

Tomorrow attorneys for the defense will have four hours for argument, and counsel for Mrs. Bond two.

A Phrase Exemplified.

(From Judge.)

"You do not offer enough."

"I don't quite get you, duke," said the heiress.

"That's the idea. You don't quiet get me. Another lady has raised your bid."

WATER POWER POLICY CONSIDERED BY WILSON

Measures Outlining Administration's Wishes Will Shortly Be Drafted.

Washington, February 17.—First steps toward the formulation of the administration's policy to govern the development of water power projects on public lands and in navigable streams were taken by President Wilson and his cabinet today. Virtually the entire time of the cabinet meeting was devoted to a discussion of the principles of conservation involved and Secretaries Garrison and Lane, of the war and interior departments, respectively, were unanimously supported in their plans for meeting the problem.

The secretaries will confer with members of congress soon and present rough drafts of legislation conforming to their ideas. These bills will be administration measures. They have been only tentatively worked out thus far.

The chief idea thus far evolved contemplates the making of arrangements between the national government and private capital by which the latter would construct and develop water power projects under a federal permit given for a fixed period of years, after which the project would become the property of the government. The government might turn the projects over to the states or might lease them to private concerns, turning the funds over to the various states—these are some of the ideas discussed by the cabinet. Underlying them all is a desire for co-operation between the states and the federal government.

Cabinet officers are not certain that under the plans they are drafting private capital would be willing to enter into the arrangements, since the plants constructed would have to be given to the federal government at the end of a certain period. An effort will be made to sound out public opinion and the views of business concerns engaged in construction work to learn the feasibility of the plan. That private concerns would be content with the profit growing out of the use of the projects, with perhaps a privilege of obtaining subsequent leases, is the belief expressed by advocates of the scheme.

$5,000 IS ADDED TO HOSPITAL FUND BY LOCAL BAPTISTS

An additional $5,000 was reported as subscribed by the Atlanta Baptists' association at the committee meeting luncheon at the Ansley hotel yesterday. This makes the total amount raised by the committee for the Greater Georgia Baptist hospital $55,000. They are seeking to raise $100,000, and the Baptist state board is to supplement this with an additional $100,000, thereby assuring Atlanta one of the most up-to-date Christian hospitals in the entire section of the south.

Though it has taken as long to raise one-half the amount, the committee expects to raise as they originally intended to give to the campaign, the committee is not at all discouraged. They are enthusiastic over the fact that the smaller churches in the city, which heretofore have not been taking an active part in the campaign, are coming to the front in rapid order now with larger subscriptions than ever expected.

The committee is planning a mammoth banquet in order to close up the campaign for funds. It is discussing plans for a banquet of 300 or 400 leading members of the Baptist churches in the city, with the view of raising the balance of the $100,000 through means of larger subscriptions.

L. & N. SECURES DELAY IN COMMISSION SUIT

Louisville, Ky., February 17.—Judge Walter Evans, in United States district court today, sustained a motion by counsel for the Louisville and Nashville railroad to quash the summons in the mandamus suit filed by District Attorney George Durelle to force the railroad to give the interstate commerce commission access to all its records and correspondence subsequent to August 28, 1906.

The court's action followed arguments over a conflict between the act created by the defunct commerce court and the Kentucky code of practice. The interstate commerce commission filed a petition for mandamus February 7, 1914. According to the commerce court, thirty days must be given after the summons before the motion is argued. Under the Kentucky code, only ten days is required. Ten days was the time given, but Judge Evans ruled that the Kentucky code never had been adopted by the United States district court here, therefore the commerce court act must be followed.

According to attorneys for both sides, the sole effect of the legal skirmish will be to delay matters for at least thirty days. Immediate steps will be taken to serve the Louisville and Nashville with a summons and certified copy of the petition, and the next step in the legal fight to compel the railroad to produce its files will take place thirty days after such summons is secured.

BUILDING MANAGERS HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET

The first annual banquet of the Atlanta Association of Building Owners and Managers was attended by fifty members. The banquet was held at the Ansley hotel, in the pineroom.

At the close of the dinner the report of the secretary, Fred Shafer, was heard and approved. Then several enthusiastic speeches were heard.

George W. McCarty acted as toastmaster. Speeches were made by the following gentlemen: Preston S. Arkwright, on "Atlanta's Debt to Her Office Buildings;" J. P. Jackson, manager of the new Y. M. C. A.; A. A. Jameson, manager of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., on "Street Boys—Give Them a Chance;" Ivan E. Allen, president Atlanta convention bureau; H. F. Watkins, the building specialist, and Fred Houser, secretary of the Atlanta convention bureau.

It was decided to make the banquet an annual affair, and more members will be urged to join the association.

U. S. RAIL OWNERSHIP BIG POLITICAL ISSUE

Baltimore, Md., February 17.—Judge C. A. Prouty, in charge of the physical valuation of railroads by the government, declared in an address before the Traffic club here tonight that forces are at work that will make government ownership a big political issue in the near future.

"I am not forecasting or trying to influence the decision of the rate question," said Judge Prouty, "but I say there are forces at work which will make government ownership a big political issue in a short time. If government ownership comes it will be because the railroads have not given satisfactory service. They cannot give satisfactory service without the necessary money.

"Take for argument's sake the valuation of the railroads at $20,000,000,000. The roads declare they should be allowed to earn 8 per cent. Most people believe 6 per cent sufficient. That makes a difference of $400,000,000 the country will have to give railroads controlled by private interests. Will the country be willing to pay?

"The thing for the railroads to do is to create public sentiment in their favor. The fair thing for the public to do is to meet the railroads half-way."

BABY BOY HANGED BY CORD THAT TIED HIS MILK BOTTLE

Charleston, W. Va., February 17.—Hanging by the cord which tied his milk bottle to his high chair, 8-months-old Clarence Hissom, son of Earl Hissom, was found dead by his mother here last night. The little fellow had fallen from the chair, and the cord, twisting around his neck, had strangled him.

AT THE THEATERS

George Evans' Minstrels.

(At the Atlanta.)

This afetrnoon the George Evans Honey Boy Minstrels will be seen at the Atlanta for the only matinee of their engagement. This band of funmakers has been declared by all critics the best minstrel show ever in Atlanta and packed houses are the result of this commendation. The farewell performance will be given tonight.

"Stop Thief."

(At the Atlanta.)

Thursday morning at 9 o'clock seats will be placed on sale at the Atlanta for the famous Cohan & Harris farce comedy, "Stop Thief," which will be played Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. This is by far the funniest of all the farces ever produced by Cohan & Harris and has a thousand laughs. It is funnier than "Officer 666" ever dared be and is being given by a company of rare merit. The play remained in New York all last season and is the screamingest success of many season. It has to do with a pair of clever thieves, many policemen and others in a manner that keeps everyone laughing from start to finish.

Stratford Players.

(At the Atlanta.)

The famous Stratford-Upon-Avon Players are coming to the Atlanta theater February 19, 20 and 21. They need a big company, because they carry the biggest repertory of any organization that has ever visited this country. They have chosen fourteen plays for this their first American tour, and will be seen in "Merchant of Venice," "Merry Wives of Windsor," "As You Like It," and "Hamlet," in the order named. The American actor need not fear that any of the players will snatch away his job, for they are a company of specialists devoting themselves to Shakespeare exclusively.

"Our New Minister."

(At the Lyric.)

"Our New Minister" is the bill this week at the Lyric. That playhouse is daily becoming more popular with the theatergoers, as the Norman Hackett company is playing there. This is the eighth successful week, and "Our New Minister" is a splendid play. Each of the company is well cast. The story deals with the arrival of a young and vigorous minister of the gospel in a small village. He is accompanied by his sister. Upon his taking under his protection an ex-convict and his young and beautiful daughters, the gossipers begin their work. After a short time, the young minister succeeds in clearing the name of the convict, who did not commit the crime for which he served sentence, and the ciliagers become very penitent. The young chap marries the daughter with whom he has fallen in love.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Seven star acts make up the entertainment the Forsyth is offering. Blanche Walsh, the distinguished star, holds the headline position, and a big act has never received a better or more enthusiastic reception. Her introduction to the vaudeville field in Atlanta is in the sketch "Countess Nadine," which gives her a splendid opportunity to display her talents. Her company is a most capable one, and her act is genuinely enjoyed by all. Stepp, Goodrich and King have one of the very cleverest Cabaret acts ever seen. Other clever and entertaining numbers are Miss Teddy Osborn and Pets, presenting "A Busy Day in Petland;" the well known Irish pair, James B. Donovan and Lida Arnold, Miss Laura Buckley and others.

Columbia Burlesque.

The Columbia offers, in addition to the regular big burlesque bill tonight, three of the best fights that have been arranged in Atlanta in months.

In the main bout Jimmy Grant, of Chicago, will battle Spider Britt, of Atlanta, ten rounds for the bantamweight championship of the south.

Ehe semi-windup will be a six-round fight between Eddie Walsh, of New Orleans, and Meyer Pries, of Atlanta, while the preliminary will be a four-round mill between Kid Williams and Batling Sheppard.

SEE IF THE CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative;" they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

HE ACCUSES GOV. BLEASE OF REFLECTING ON WOMAN

Taylor Says Governor's Letters Reflect on Moral Character of Eleanor Saunders.

Columbia, S. C., February 17.—Three members of the board of regents—J. A. Summersett, J. D. Bivens and Julius H. Taylor, M. D.—gave testimony at today's session of the legislative committee investigating the state hospital for the insane.

Dr. Taylor, when asked by members of the committee, recited the incidents taking place at the meeting of the board of regents at the state hospital for the insane on December 12. Dr. Taylor told the committee that he considered the questions asked by Governor Blease to be a reflection upon the character of Dr. Eleanora B. Saunders, the young woman physician at the hospital, a demand for whose removal has played an important part in bringing about the inquiry. He said he also considered the two letters written by Governor Blease to reflest upon the moral character of the young woman. He said that there was "an atmosphere of insinuation throughout the whole meeting."

Mr. Bivens complained that Dr. Babcock, the superintendent of the hospital, had gone over the heads of the regents in several matters. He admitted the authorship of the resolution condemning Dr. Saunders. He said that he withdrew the resolution upon request of Governor Blease, but gave no reason why the resolution condemning her should be withdrawn. He charged that she meddled with other departments.

Mr. Summersett's testimony consisted largely of suggestions as to proper management of the asylum by the board of regents.

Several members of the medical staff of the hospital are expected to testify tomorrow.

ROADS SEEK TO HOLD THEIR WATER LINES

Washington, February 17.—Hearings began today before Commissioner McChord on the application of the Pennsylvania railroad and the Northern Central railway to the interstate commerce commission for relief from the operation of that provision of the Panama canal act which requires interstate railroads to divest themselves of ownership or control of steamship and other water lines before July 1, 1914. Both companies operate steamship lines on the great lakes.

Six more railroads applied to the commission today to be permitted their water lines after July 1.

The applicants included the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, owning 1,200 of the 15,000 shares of the Old Dominion Steamship company, and 2,000 of the 6,000 shares of the Chesapeake Steamship company; the Norfolk and Western railroad, owning 2,100 shares of the Old Dominion Steamship company; the Seaboard Air Line railway, owning 2,100 shares of the Old Dominion Steamship stock, and the whole of the Baltimore Steam Packet company, the stock of the latter being pledged as secufity for obligations; and the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway company, owning 1,200 shares of the Old Dominion Steamship company.

DEATH OF THE BIRDMAN CAUSED BY DROWNING

Pensacola, Fla., February 17.—Drowning caused the death of Lieutenant J. McC. Murray, of the United States naval aviation corps, who late yesterday lost his life when his hydro-aeroplane plunged several hundred feet into Pensacola bay. At first it was thought he had been killed by an explosion of the engine of his craft or injuries sustained in his fall, but an examination by physicians today showed his body to be almost unmarked by the accident. Officials of the naval station said his death was doubtless due to his inability to free himself from the floating wreckage of his craft.

Whether a defect in the mechanism of the hydro-aeroplane caused its fatal plunge, or whether the aviator lost control of his machine, remained a mystery today. The wreckage of the craft was towed to the naval station and an official investigation begun.

Canonsburg, Pa., February 17.—Lieutenant J. McC. Murray, the naval aviator killed while flying at Pensacola, Fla., yesterday, was the son of the Rev. J. F. Murray, pastor of the Mount Prospect Presbyterian church, near here. The body will be brought here for burial Thursday.

F. C. Sumner, Clyde Park, Mont., won the United States championship prize with a 50-pound peck, which was declared inferior in color only to the Canadians' exhibit.

The awards will be submitted to the United States department of agriculture for confirmation.

BULLET PUT INTO BRAIN BY FRANK H. CONNER

No Cause Known for Suicide of Head of Birmingham Contractors' Association.

Birmingham Ala., February 17.—Frank H. Conner, a general contractor and president of the Birmingham General Contractors' association, shot and almost instantly killed himself today early, in his office on the tenth floor of the Brown-Marx office building, sending a bullet into his brain. No one was in the room at the time.

A maid in the building heard the shot, but thought it was an electric light globe breaking, and paid no attention to it for several minutes. No cause is assigned for the act. The deceased was doing well in business. He is survived by a widow and two children.

REPUTED MILLIONAIRE CUTS THROAT IN PRISON

London, February 17.—Lee Bond, the demented automobilist of Lyndhurst, who tried to commit suicide in prison yesterday, is an American citizen. The American consul at Southampton, Albert W. Swalm, today took charge of his effects and searched his papers. He found a letter of identification No. 2,744, issued on October 9, 1911 by the Shanghai branch of the International Banking corporation, of 60 Wall street, New York.

Little was known of Bond at Lyndhurst where he had lived for a year, except in connection with his eccentric habits and his wild motor and horseback rides through the neighboring forest. These culminated Sunday afternoon when he was arrested after a thrilling thirty-hour automobile drive through four counties.

On Monday he cut his throat in the prison cell. His condition is practically hopeless. Bond is reputed a millionaire.

KING OF THE BELGIANS THROWN FROM HORSE

Brussels, Belgium, February 17.—Albert I, king of the Belgians, broke his left arm today. He was thrown from his horse while riding in the forest of Seignies, not far from the battlefield of Waterloo.

His majesty's escape from more serious injury was a narrow one. Exaggerated reports of the accident caused much public concern in the Belgian capital. The king's physician, however, allayed anxiety by a bulletin describing the injury and declaring that no grave consequences were likely to ensue from the accident "as the king's general health is good and he is a young man."

King Albert I is 38 years old. He succeeded his uncle, Leopold, on December 17, 1909. He married Princess Elizabeth, of Bavaria, in 1900 and the royal couple have three children.

"WORK, NOT ALMS" LEGEND INSCRIBED ON THEIR BANNERS

St. Louis, February 17.—Carrying banners reading "We want work, not alms," and singing "Throw Out the Life Line," 500 homeless men marched on the city hall today, met the mayor and then attended a meeting of the city council, where they asked for appropriations for the relief of the poor. The parade was called the "pageant of the unemployed" by its promoters, in contrast to the proposed "pageant of St. Louis," for which thousands of dollars are being spent. It was headed by James Eads How, "millionaire hobo," and Cora D. Hovey, secretary of the National Brotherhood Welfare association.

The men asked the erection of a new municipal lodging house, for the loan of unused tools and vacant buildings belonging to the city and for the establishment of a commissary where the unemployed might buy food at its cost. The mayor told the men he could do nothing for them on his own initiative, but said he would approve any aid offered the homeless by the municipal assembly.

JETTON IS ARRAIGNED ON CHARGE OF MURDER

Charlotte, N. C., February 17.—All efforts to obtain the release on bail of R. M. Jetton, held here for the alleged murder of Dr. W. H. Wooten last Tuesday, were ceased today when Jetton was arraigned in superior court on a charge of murder, and the trial set for Thursday of this week. Both the state and the defense expressed readiness to begin the trial on that date. Jetton entered a plea of not guilty, and the court ordered a special venire of 100 drawn.

A singular circumstance arose when in the drawing of the veniremen the name of the defendant was called. It was soon noticed by the court, and the name passed.

Willard and the flowers which decked the hall afterwards were laid on her grave in Rose Hill cemetery.

HE WANTED TO BLOW UP THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS

Sheriff Agrees With Spikey Connell Who Thinks There Is Something Wrong.

Macon, Ga., February 17.—(Special.) A well-dressed white man, apparently about 45 years of age, walked up to Sheriff Lane Mullally in front of the courthouse this afternoon and took that official by surprise by saying, "There is something the matter with me and I want you to take charge of me. I have been trying to wreck Wall street all day, and I know that I am not able to do it. Yesterday I tried all day to blow up the Rocky mountains."

After hearing that statement and the declaration by the stranger that there must be something wrong with him, Sheriff Mullally remarked, "I think so, too," and calling a deputy sheriff bundled the man off to jail to be held pending the institution of lunacy proceedings.

The man gave his nam as Spikey Connell, but admitted that was not his right name. "Something must be wrong, and I want to be held for something," he volunteered.

"The best thing I know of is lunacy," said Sheriff Mullally.

"Well, try me for that," replied Connell.

Akerman Tells of Girl "Slave."

Macon, Ga., February 17.—(Special.)—The criticism by Mrs. William H. Felton, of Cartersville, of the handling of a white slave case at Valdosta, in which a young girl was held in jail seven months as a witness and when the case came to trial the man was permitted to go free on a technicality, has caused District Attorney Alexander Akerman to write Mrs. Felton, one of his best friends, an explanation of the case.

Mr. Akerman states that the only mistake made was in the length of time consumed in bringing the case before the United States grand jury, which, he says, was due to the long illness of Judge Speer during the past summer and fall.

The girl, he says, was not a sweet, young, innocent thing, by any means. However, during her confinement in jail she was kept in a special ward away from other prisoners and was shown every consideration by the government and was constantly under the care of a physician for the treatment of an unmentionable disease. For the time she spent in jail she was paid at the rate of $1 per day, and her first remark when handed her voucher for $240, according to the district attorney, was: "If I can only get some booze with this now."

According to Mr. Akerman, when one undertakes to reform people from another half-world they at least have something of a task on their hands.

W. J. Massee Is Garnisheed.

Macon, Ga., February 17.—(Special.)—Garnishment proceedings were served here today through the municipal court on behalf of the New York law firm of Caldwell, Masslich & Reed, against W. J. Massee, who is defendant in a suit for $6,000 attorneys' fees in the city court of Macon. The garnishment was issued against the five Macon National banks and the Bibb Brick and Sewer Pipe company, of which two companies Mr. Massee is the head. This action has the effect of tying up the funds of Massee both in the banks and held by the two companies. He will arrange, however, to give bond at once and have it all released.

Society Dances in Cabaret Charm a Large Audience

In the rose ballroom of the Georgian Terrace hotel last evening a picturesque cabaret scene was presented to the three hundred prominent Atlanta people who assembled to see a group of young society people demonstrate the modern dances.

There were the real dances, and then the "cartoons," and all were well done by expert dancers in spectacular costume

The first feature of the program was the Brazilian maxique, danced by Miss Regina Silverman and Mr. Eugene Haynes. This dance is one of the most graceful and difficult of the new ones. Miss Silverman proved herself the artist, and Mr. Haynes an excellent partner.

Then came a "cartoon" dance, when Marsh Adair, wearing a red tarleton gown made in Paul Poieret style, his hair dressed under a marvelous creation of tulle and aigrettes and jewels, danced in elaborate fashion the various new steps coming under the head of the one-step, the hesitation, or anything you choose. He was encored many times

As light and airy and graceful as a fairy was Miss Helen Dargan in the Spanish dance with Mr. Eugene Kelly. She wore a dancing gown in white chiffon; a crown of tulle on her pretty hair, and her interpretation of the dance illustrated the poetry of motion.

Mr. Ralph Ragan and Miss Silverman, in the Russian dance now a favorite the world over, were enthusiastically applauded and encored.

"A pas seule," by Herr Von Limberger, introduced Mr. William Coleman in a screamingly funny dance, which cartooned the new dances and showed some of the steps of the old ones.

James Ragan and Byron Crawford, dressed as Turkish maidens, as light as feathers on their feet, danced wonderfully well.

Miss Silverman and Mr. Eugene Haynes then danced the tango in its many varieties, and charmed the audience, Miss Silverman illustrating again that she knows the art of the dance.

In a piano contest combining ragtime spirit with Hurculean strength, Messrs. Adair and Coleman closed the program with a bang of success.

The last number on the program was a beautiful French dance by Ralph Ragan and Miss Virginia Hoffman, who wore Pierrot and Pierrette costumes.

Then general dancing was enjoyed, and supper.

Mrs. Frank S. Ellis, director of the program, was heartily congratulated on the success of the occasion. Mrs. Floyd McRae, Mrs. Frank Holland, Mrs. James Dickey, Mrs. J. W. Blalock, Mrs. Clarence Knowles, Mrs. Henry Miller, Mrs. John Murphy and Mrs. Russell were patronesses. Mrs. Frank Meador, Mrs. Harry Stearne and Mrs. Joseph Rhodes were checkgirls. Misses Julia Murphy, Katherine Dickey, Dorothy Arkwright, Anne Patterson and Adeline McCullough were ushers.

The entertainment was one of the most successful benefits of the year, and meant several hundred dollars for that worthy institution, the Home for Incurables.

The luncheon was given at Mrs. Speer's home on Peachtree Road, which was artistically decorated with handsome plants and a profusion of daffodils, narcissi and violets. In the center of the large round table in the dining room was a big mirror draped about with shadow lace. The soft folds of the lace were caught with golden butterflies and about the table were big bows of the lace and tulle. Arising from the mirror was a tall silver vase, filled with daffodils and narcissi and encircling it were six smaller silver vases filled with the same flowers. Lace mats were at the places and the candle shades and bon bon holders were in the form of daffodils. At each place was a corsage boquet of Parma violets, to which were attached by violet silk cords, cards pierced with Cupid's darts and bearing the guest's name in gold.

The ices were frozen in the shape of doves and the cakes were embossed in daffodils.

Mrs. Speer wore a French gown of blue chiffon cloth embroidered in Oriental colors and Mrs. Silvey wore black satin charmeuse trimmed in point lace and a corsage boquet of Parma violets.

Miss Prince wore a handsome gown of moss green crepe de chine, with broad belt of black moire and bands of moire trimmed the short coat. Her hat was of green straw to match and she wore a corsage boquet of gardenias and violets.

Tonight Miss Mary Moore, of Atlanta, delivered an address from the text, "Lo, I Am With You Alays"—an address full of inspiration and enthusiasm.

The big gathering of prominent women, including several from other states, is being cared for admirably by the hospitable women of Athens.

RANDOLPH COUNTY IS RAISING FUNDS FOR TRADE BOARD

Cuthbert, Ga., February 17.—(Special.)—Business men of this city made a whirlwind canvass of the city under direction of Tom M. Morgan, representing the Georgia state chamber, to raise funds for the establishment of a county chamber of commerce that will co-operate with the state chamber.

A large sum was raised, and there is much enthusiasm here in the effort. A dozen leading business men left their work and went out after subscriptions.

Beginning tomorrow the canvass will be extended to other parts of the county, and work will not stop until every business man and farmer in the county has been interested.

COMMERCE GIRL DIES AS RESULT OF BURNS

Commerce, Ga., February 17.—(Special.)—Miss Clo Arthur, aged 20, died last night from injuries received on Friday morning caused by severe burns. She was standing before an open grate when her dress caught on fire. Before the blaze could be extinguished, her clothes had been almost completely burned from her body. W. C. Davis, her grandfather, who was in the room, burned his hands in trying to save his branddaughter.

Miss Arthur was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Arthur, of Apple Valley community, five miles west of Commerce, a prominent family. She graduated from Georgia Normal and Industrial college in 1912, and was an attractive, accomplished and popular young woman.

HELD FOR BETRAYAL OF HIS GIRL COUSIN

Rome, Ga., February 17.—(Special.) Grady Baugh, a well known young man of Lindale, was yesterday bound over to Floyd city court by Justice of the Peace Walter Harris on a charge of having betrayed his first cousin, Miss Eva Baugh, a beautiful young woman aged 20. Sensational testimony was introduced at the commitment trial, the principal witness being the girl herself. Baugh's bond was fixed at $300, which he gave.

DEKALB MASS MEETING CALLED FOR MARCH 3

Decatur, Ga., February 17.—(Special.) A mass meeting of the democrats of DeKalb county for the purpose of electing a new county executive committee has been called by the chairman, J. E. Bodenhamer, for the noon hour at the courthouse in Decatur on Tuesday, March 3. The new executive committee will have to set the date for the county primary.

Sixth District Meet.

Griffin, Ga., February 17.—(Special.) This city has a good chance to get the sixth congressional district athletic and education meet, which is to be held April 17. Interested citizens are getting behind the movement, and it is more than probable that success will attend their efforts. Macon and Barnesville are in the race to secure the big athletic event, but as Griffin is the most accessible point in the district, it is believed that a larger attendance can be had here than at either of the other places.

Large Still Destroyed.

Rome, Ga., February 17.—(Special.) One of the largest illicit distilleries during recent years was destroyed by revenue officers yesterday, seven miles from Rome. Five hundred gallons of beer were poured out on the ground, and warrants issued for the arrest of the alleged operators, although none was present at the time of the raid.

WHAT A RAILROAD CONDUCTOR SAYS

Mr. H. White, railroad conductor on the Southern from Atlanta to Heflin, Ala., has for some time suffered with stomach and kidney trouble. In' his weak, rundown condition his stomach caused him much distress after eating even the lightest foods. He was annoyed with bloating, belching and shortness of breath, and sometimes had dizzy spells. Like most railroad men, he was affected with kidney trouble. He would have to get up several times at night. Had a dull pain across the small of his back. During this time he has used many so-called kidney pills, plasters, etc., without the least benefit. His condition began to alarm him, his vitality was passing away, he had no ambition, and nothing he took seemed to benefit him in the least. Finally, a friend of his, a brother railroad man who had been using the Quaker Extract for catarrh of the stomach, and who had received wonderful benefits, advised him to try the Quaker Extract. He did, and to his surprise he commenced to feel better after the first day, and today says that Quaker Extract is the most wonderful medicine in the world, and he would not take $5,000 for the benefits he has received. He eats anything without the slightest distress; the pains and troubles from the kidneys have disappeared, and he feels twenty years younger. Every nerve and muscle in his body is built up and proves that the Quaker Extract which the Health Teacher has introduced at Coursey & Munn's drug store is worth its weight in gold.

Remember, these are the remedies that are curing so many people of rheumatism, catarrh, kidney, liver stomach, bladder, indigestion, constipation; in fact, they are doing the work others have left undone. Quaker Extract, $1.00 or 3 for $2.50, 6 for $5.00. Oil of Balm, 25c, or 5 for $1.00. These Quaker Remedies can always be had at Coursey & Munn's drug store, 29 Marietta street. We prepay express charges on all orders of $3.00 or over.

Try This Treatment For Hairy Growths

(Helps to Beauty)

A single application of paste made by mixing together a little powdered delatone and water and applied to objectionable hairs for about 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off, takes with it every trace of hair or fuzz. The skin should then be washed to free it from the remaining paste, and it will be firm and spotless. This is a quick, painless treatment, but its success depends greatly on using fresh delatone, which can be purchased only in original packages.—(adv.)

GRANDMOTHER GAINS POSSESSION OF TOT STOLEN BY FATHER

Thomasville, Ga., February 17.—(Special.)—Owing to the high waters from the recent rains Mrs. Mimms, of this county, was able to obtain her litite 4-year-old grandson which, she claims, her son-in-law, Luther Nickolson, and two other men kidnaped from her house some time ago.

The child, Mrs. Mimms claims, had been given to her by its mother on her deathbed, the father concurring in the agreement and allowing the little fellow to live with her several years. A short time ago he said he wanted it, and when she refused and told him of the greement, he came later with two other men and stole it away, carrying it to his home, where he now lives in Mitchell county. Warrants for their their arrest were sworn out, but nothing much had been done in the matter.

Saturday Mr. Nickolson came to Thomasville with the child on his way to Cairo, but, owing to the high waters, he couldn't get there in his buggy, so left the child with a friend near here. The lawyer in charge of the matter for Mrs. Mimms found out about it, and getting an officer and a warrant, went to the house and took the child and carried it to the grandmother. Of course, the matter will have to be heard in the courts later, but in the meantime the grandmother has the child, and it is being watched with close care.

ATLANTAN IS SENT TO GANG IN SUMTER FOR ROBBING BOYS

Americus, Ga., February 17.—(Special.)—Thomas Boyle, a white man hailing from Atlanta, was sentenced to a term on the chaingang this afternoon upon four charges, the sentences aggregating twenty-eight months. Boyle, the arresting policeman alleged, attempted the scheme of ordering goods sent out by local merchants together with change for a large bill and then robbing the delivery boy when he appeared.

The police asserted that Boyle was reaping a harvest when arrested. Other charges connected with robbery resulted in the imposition of a sentence aggregating twenty-eight months' servitude.

KIND LADY HELPS SICK OLD SOLDIER

Could Not Walk a Step. Both Make Statement Regarding Trouble, and Place Credit Where Due.

Blackwells, Ga.—"Last year, an old soldier living in my neighborhood," says Mrs. Hattie Armstrong, of this place, "was so strickened with his back, that he could not walk a step. He got no relief from medicines he was taking, and I recommended Thedford's Black-Draught to him. He got two 25c packages, and by the time he had used them he was entirely well.

I have been using Black-Draught for 10 years in my family, and am never without it in the house. I have six children and I give them Black-Draught for colds, and it cures them. I suffered with constipation for a long time, and I could get nothing to do me the good that Black-Draught does. It is all that keeps me on foot."

Mr. S. M. Watkins, the old soldier referred to above, says: "I was down with my back last summer, and couldn't get anything to relieve me. On a friend's advice, I took two packages of Thedford's Black-Draught, and it did me more good than all other medicines put together. It's the finest medicine for headache, as well as constipation and colds, I have ever tried."

PLAYERS' CLUB READY TO PLAY "THE GENIUS"

Play Will Rival Production Put on by Nat Goodwin Himself.

The Nat Goodwin production itself of the play, "The Genius," will be rivaled by the magnificent scale upon which the Players Club of Atlanta is going to present that play to the city next Tuesday night at the Grand opera house.

The scenic effects will be an elaborate reproduction of those of the original Nat Goodwin show. The stage settings for a single act are valued at $5,000, and have been insured for that amount until after the show. Real statuary and much valuable and rare bric-a-brac will go into the make-up of this stage setting.

The Players' club is working every available hour now to make the acting of the piece entirely equal in excellence the quality of the elaborate stage settings.

The cast is composed of the most brilliant actors of the club, whose merits upon the stage have been demonstrated to the people of Atlanta on other similar occasions. This production promises to be the best piece of work the club has ever done.

The play is being put on under the direction of W. A. Rodgers, whose experience as both actor and stage director has connected him with the leading exponents of the stage of the last decade.

The play, of course, is being presented, not for any remuneration to the Players' club, but is purely a philanthropic work on their part.

The proceeds of the play will go toward the establishment of a much-needed hospital for the care of negroes suffering from contagious diseases. The project has been indorsed by the mayor and the leading civic workers of the city.

NATION'S TRIBUTE IS PAID TO BACON

offer a prayer to God, the Father; God, the redeemer, and God, the comforter."

The Rev. Forrest J. Prettyman, chaplain of the senate, offered prayer.

"We bless Thee for the life and work of this great man," he said.

"We praise Thee that the hand of death was not laid upon him until he had spoken his message to the world and had sent forth the influence of a devoted life into the soul of our nation.

"Blessed with a physical form which was animated by a presence, full of the repose of self-mastery, confident through a rich and varied scholarship, inflexible by reason of a consecrated will, dominant with a purpose of lofty aim, he faced and fulfilled the great demands of a faithful senator."

The Episcopal burial service was pronounced by Bishop Alfred Harding, of the Protestant Episcopal church, and a benediction followed by the chaplain.

Vice President's Tribute.

After the lapse of probably a minute, the vice president spoke again:

"Into the loving hands of the committees of congress and the officers of the senate," he said, "we consign the mortal body of our well-beloved senator, to be by them conveyed to his home in the state of Georgia, there to be deposited in its final resting place. May his labors in the cause of constitutional liberty long bless the republic."

Members of the capitol police force bore the body back to the marble room, where it remained until escorted to the railway station for the journey to Atlanta, where it will lie in state at the Georgia capitol until taken to Macon for interment.

The funeral party that accompanied the body south included the committees appointed by the two houses of congress—Sergeant at Arms Higgins, the secretary of the senate, Senators Smith of Georgia, Tillman, Chilton, Fletcher, Pomerene, Thomas, O'Gorman, Vardaman, Gallinger, Root, Nelson, Brandegee and Page, Representatives Ferris, Willis, Mann, Payne, Gardner, Anthony, Dyer and Prouty, and the Georgia delegation, including Repsentatives Edwards, Park, Adamson, Howard, Bartlett, Lee, Tribble, Bell, Hardwick, Walker and Hughes.

Senator Overman, who was appointed on the committee to accompany Senator Bacon's body to Georgia, was compelled to remain here by illness.

The Guard of Honor.

At the coffin in the marble room, from which the general public was excluded, was a guard of honor composed of a veteran of the union and a veteran of the confederate armies. Senator Bacon was a southern soldier. The confederate veteran was J. B. Marshall, of Birmingham, Ala., and the union soldier was Major James A. Abbott, of Providence, R. I. Both are members of the capitol police force.

In the marble room, there was only one floral piece. It was the tribute of the senate, a huge wreath of American Beauties, Easter lilies, sweetpeas and violets, on a tall standard, at the base of which was a bank of lilies, laurel and palm leaves. When the coffin was removed to the senate chamber the flowers were not taken with it.

W. T. Roberts and John T. Duncan, of Douglasville, Ga., two veterans of the Forty-second Georgia, Senator Bacon's old regiment, came to attend the funeral. They will return on the train that carries the senator's body to Atlanta.

When the Stomach Goes Back to Work

Then Is the Whole System Glad. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Will Quickly Put the Stomach In Shape.

When the stomach fails to do its work properly the whole machine of man is unstrung and wholly incapable of work. This condition obtains from the tiniest nerve to the big, strong pumping heart.

It is a wise law of nature that has made the stomach man's strongest organ, but when it stops work man ought to realize that it does so because it can continue no longer.

"Hooray! Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Are the Real Appetite Bringers."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will certainly give the stomach the repair it needs and is always crying aloud for.

A tablet taken after each meal will in the course of several hours become a portion of the digestive fluids. It will build up these fluids. First in the stomach, then in the intestines.

The liver is the storehouse of the body. Here are assembled all the reserve fluids of the system and here the various ingredients of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets mingle with the faulty natural juices and strengthens them or if they are too strong then they will be reduced to their proper strength and proportion.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain a single ingredient, one grain of which is sufficient to digest 3,000 grains of food. Just think how gratefully such an element is received into a body that cannot digest at all without a new weakening of the already depleted juices.

Go to your druggist this very day and obtain a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, price 50 cents. A week's trial will make you a new man and your stomach will go back to work.

Several members will visit their homes for several days, returning from Georgia. Mr. Bell will stay about a week, and Mr. Walker and Mr. Hughes will stay four or five days.

FINAL PREPARATIONS MADE AT MACON

Macon, Ga., February 17.—City council tonight made final preparations here for the funeral of the late Senator A. O. Bacon, who died Saturday in Washington, when resolutions were adopted asking that all business houses be closed from 11 until 12 o'clock Tuesday, the hour of the funeral here.

The body is expected to arrive here Wednesday night. It will be taken to Christ church, Episcopal, where it will lie in state until the final church services. Interment will be in Rose Hill cemetery.

Delegations from the Macon Bar association and the Macon Chamber of Commerce will go to Atlanta Wednesday for the services there and will escort the body to Macon. Colonel J. W. Preston, commander of the Georgia division of United Confederate Veterans, today invited all United Confederate Veteran camps to attend the services. There will be no military display here, however.

MACON IS AWAITING THE BODY OF BACON

Macon, Ga., February 17.—Macon awaits the body of Senator A. O. Bacon and the citizens of the city have made every preparation possible to appropriately honor his memory.

The city council tonight put on the finishing touches of the solemn program that is to be carried out, when a resolution was adopted requesting that all business houses in the city suspend during the hour of the funeral.

The body will be taken to Christ church (Episcopal) upon its arrival here Wednesday night, where it will lie in state throughout the night.

The funeral will be held Thursday morning at 11 o'clock and the burial will be at Rose Hill cemetery.

The chamber of commerce this afternoon named a committee of sixty persons to go to Atlanta tomorrow morning to escort the body to Macon. The Macon Bar association also will send a committee of twenty.

Colonel J. W. Preston, commander of the Georgia division of the United Confederate Veterans, has invited all camps of the United Confederate Veterans to attend the funeral. There will be no military display, however.

BACON CARVED NAME ON COLLEGE WINDOW SILL

Athens, Ga., February 17.—(Special.) Chancellor Barrow, of the University of Georgia, has appointed the honorary delegation from the faculty of the institution to attend the funeral of Senator Bacon in Macon:

The chancellor will go, accompanying him, Dr. A. M. Soule, president of the State College of Agriculture; Dean Snelling, of Franklin college; Dr. H. C. White and Professor R. E. Park.

The trustees have appointed their committee to go to Atlanta tomorrow and to Macon the following day. Several will go from Athens who are not on either of these committees.

Deep-carved in the stone ledge of a window in the building on the campus known as "Old College," the dormitory for upper-classmen at the University of Georgia, of which the late senator was an alumnus and for many years a trustee, is still very plainly discernible the name "A. O. Bacon."

Senator Bacon entered the university in August, 1865, as a sophomore, when the echoes of the last volleys of the battle of the war between the states were still ringing. The first year he won the sophomore declamation medal in a contest which has since been an annual feature of the college course. He was a member of the Phi Kappa Literary society, an organization founded by Alexander H. Stephens and his colleagues in 1820. In 1869 Mr. Bacon received his degree as bachelor of arts, and the next year was awarded the degree of bachelor of law. Since that time he has had conferred upon him the degrees of A. M. and LL. D. He has been a member of the board of trustees for many years and his present term would not have expired until 1917.

The window ledge on which the name of the late senator is still visible in its simple carving is a window of the oldest building in Athens. Old College was erected in 1801, and originally contained both sleeping and classrooms. With the development of the college into a university, the stately group of buildings have sprung up about this pioneer of edifices builded as monuments to education. It was remodeled and repaired in 1898, and is used for a dormitory for seniors and juniors. Its historic value is enhanced greatly by this simple act of the schoolboy of the half-century ago.

Gainesville, Ga., February 17.—(Special.)—The stork yesterday visited the home of young Bartow Cantrell, convicted of the murder of Arthur Hawkins last spring, and carried a fine baby boy to the wife of the man now under death sentence in Hall county jail.

Deputy Sheriff Buffington, upon hearing of the visit by the stork, immediately went to jail and carried his prisoner down to visit his wife and little one.

If what you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin will give you a hundred dollars' worth of satisfaction or your druggist hands you your money back.

It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomaches regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest and most harmless stomach doctor in the world.

MANY CANDIDATES OUT FOR OFFICE IN NEWTON

Covington, Ga., February 17.—(Special.)—The earliest primary in years for Newton county to nominate her officials for county positions will be held on April 30, according to the decision of the Newton county democratic executive committee. C. A. Sockwell, of Covington, was elected chairman of the county organization, and R. F. Taylor, of Covington, named secretary and treasurer.

Already eleven candidates have announced for various county officers, and as more entries are expected, the livest contest in years will accompany the pre-primary period when the officials will be selected.

Four candidates are in the field for clerk of the superior court, and as yet this race proves the most interesting with the largest number of candidates. The office of clerk is being sought by John D. Davis, George T. Smith, W. T. Milner, and John J. Corley, all of Covington.

The position of treasurer has two candidates and is a singular contest because one of the candidates offers to serve without compensation. C. S. Thompson, of Covington, in his announcement states that he believes the office is an unnecessary expense, but if the people desire to put up with it he will serve without pay. He states that the county commissioners can meet and calculate his commissions, and he will donate the sum to the county treasury. His opponent is C. L. Harwell, of Covington, offering for re-election.

The two announced candidates for tax receiver are J. F. Lunsford and Henry I. Horton, of Covington. W. S. Ramsey, the present tax collector, is offering for re-election and has no opposition.

The position of county commissioner is being sought by two announced candidates, J. W. Black and W. B. Livingston. On January 1, 1915 the new law giving Newton county one commissioner and abolishing the board of five becomes effective.

Bloodhounds for Ware.

Waycross, Ga., February 17.—(Special.)—Bloodhounds for Ware county have been ordered by Sheriff D. W. Pittman, and are expected daily. In recent months several cases in which bloodhounds might have been used to advantage have been noted here, and with the recent murder of Jim Dyer it became evident that bloodhounds were a necessity.

COTTON ADVANCED, OFFERINGS LIGHT

Market Opened at Decline, But Closed Steady, Unchanged to Nine Points Up.

New York, February 17.—Cotton was quiet today, but prices ruled generally steady and closed steady, net unchanged to 9 points higher. Talk of large commitments for shipments of spot cotton during March and reports of steady interior holders seemed to check local sellers, and after some scattering liquidation at the start there was very little pressure against prices.

Cables were about as due, but the local market opened steady at a decline of 2 to 5 points under selling, attributed to recent buyers, who were supposed to have been discouraged by failure of Saturday's supply and distribution figures to create any general or aggressive demand. With first prices here lower than due, on the showing of Liverpool, there was considerable buying by houses with English connections, possibly to reverse straddles, which helped to absorb the early offerings, while there was also scattered covering a little trade buying.

The market soon steadied on this demand and while buyers failed to follow prices up on any important scale, offerings were very light, and the close was within a point of the best. February showed the closing advance of 9 points, while the more active positions were about a point over yesterday's close.

Private cables reported a quiet, featureless market in Liverpool. A private wire from Atlanta said there was a good spot demand, and that, judging from present indications, the March commitments would prove as heavy as those of January. Much of the talk around the local ring was concerning the probable extent and effect of March spot engagements. No one seemed to have any definite idea as to their probable volume.

The stock of certificated cotton here has lost ground slightly during the month, and March contracts showed a perimum of 27 points over May at the close.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, February 17.—It was a dull but steady session in the cotton market today. The net results were small, the close being unchanged to 2 points up, compared with the last figures of yesterday.

At the highest of the day prices were at a net advance of 1 to 3 points. Bullish reports from the spot department were chiefly responsible for buying orders, although the trade did not like weather conditions over Texas. These conditions were responsible for a limited amount of short covering.

Scalping longs were eager profit-taking whenever the market displayed any tendency to work higher. Offerings from this source at one time put quotations 3 to 5 points under yesterday's last quotations. The nearness of Mardi Gras gave the market much of a holiday feeling.

Spot cotton steady, unchanged; middling 13; sales on the spot 1,250 bales; to arrive 380; good ordinary 10 11-16; strict good ordinary 11 3-16; low middling 12 3-16; strict low middling 12¾; strict middling 13 7-16; good middling 13 13-16; strict good middling 14; receipts 11,051; stock 269,751.

Jay, Bond & Co.

New York, February 17.—Today's cotton market has been steady with trading very limited. Southern spot markets remain generally unchanged. The trade is awaiting some fresh incentive for operations on either side. Selling pressure is restricted by expectations of an improved demand for March shipments and price advocates are doing little on account of the dearth of outside participation in the market.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, February 17.—The market is very dull and very steady, with indifferent trading and no speculative enthusiasm. Its details are without import and the question is that of waiting for some news or influence not yet forthcoming. Cables were somewhat lower than due and had a transitory influence. The volume of business was small. Trade reports, esepcially dry goods, are encouraging and might be of weight under more interested conditions. Crop preparations progress favorably. This indifference will not be lasting.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, February 17.—The cotton market was dull today, but there was no real weakness and the close was steady a point higher than that of yesterday. It looks as if there was not much chance of starting a bull movement on old crop positions and many bulls are taking advantage of little rallies to reduce their lines. Liverpool is due to come 2½ points up.

Coffee was more active today and broke 10 points. The interests which have been supporting this market to help the Brazil situation seem to be getting tired.

Dry Goods.

New York, February 17.—Men's wear agents today advanced prices 5c a yard on staple fall goods. Cotton goods markets were steady with a fair trade reported by the jobbers. Deliveries were greatly impeded by snow. Silk markets were active.

MAY WHEAT MADE HIGHEST OF YEAR

The Demand From Europe Caused Advance—Corn and Oats Also Closed Higher.

Chicago, February 17.—Wheat for May delivery touched today the highest price of the year. Active demand from Europe was responsible. Closing figures were steady at virtually the top level of the day, an advance of ⅝ to ¾@⅞ net. Other grain, too, showed an upturn—corn, ⅝ to ¾ and oats, ½ to ⅝. In provisions, the outcome was 2½ to 2½@5 decline.

Trading in wheat broadened out much more than recently has been the case and especially gained in volume after the fact became apparent that export call had been heard at Philadelphia, St. Louis and Kansas City as well as here. Besides, mill inquiry improved to an extent that could hardly be ignored and there was a decided falling off in the stock pile at Minneapolis, notwithstanding that Nebraska wheat was being drained north instead of to Kansas City or Chicago.

Kansas City reports of crop damage had a bullish effect on the wheat market just before the close. It was said that throughout the state snow covering had disappeared and that in some places the ground was badly heaved and the wheat roots exposed. It also was asserted that only the eastern third of Nebraska at present was protected by snow.

Corn bulged on account of the wheat strength and in consequence of less favorable Argentine crop reports concerning late sown fields. There were signs also that feeding had become more general in the United States and that thaws might be expected which would put many country roads out of condition.

In the oats trade, the smallness of country offerings had a bullish influence. Moreover, shipping sales from here were enlarged and, according to one authority, reached the best total in a month.

Eastern longs threw provisions overboard, ribs in particular. The semimonthly showing of stocks in warehouses had made holders uneasy. Commission houses, though, absorbed the offerings and aided by the upturn in grain, overcame most of the loss.

MUNICIPAL CLOCK USED AS TARGET FOR RIFLE

Cordele, Ga., February 17.—(Special.) Some unknown person has been making a target out of one of the faces of the Cordele city clock in the courthouse steeple for practice with a rifle and within the past few days seventeen long-range steel bullets have completely shattered the plate glass face of the ponderous time keeper. It is estimated that the bullets were fired from a distance of possibly half a mile and that an army rifle was used in this target practice, which has damaged the clock and been perilous to the man employed to keep it wound and in the proper running order.

FLOYD COUNTY TO BUILD $10,500 ALMSHOUSE

Rome, Ga., February 17.—(Special.) Plans are being made by the board of county commissioners to erect a new almshouse, to cost $10,500. McCormick & Fahy, of Rome, have been employed as the architects, and the home will be built on a hill near the present building. Details have not yet been worked out for its construction, but there will probably be a main building and an annex, although the cottage plan is favored by some of the commissioners.

MEMORIAL SERVICES HELD AT HINESVILLE

Savannah, Ga., February 17.—The first memorial services to be held in Georgia for United States Senator Bacon were held today at Hinesville, Liberty county, in the superior courtroom. A committee of attorneys prepared resolutions upon the death of the senator, which were passed. There were several eulogies pronounced by well known south Georgia lawyers. Senator Bacon's parents lived in Liberty county and are buried in historic Midway cemetery.

TRADING IN STOCKS WAS VERY LIGHT

While the Market Showed Firmness, None of the Loss of Previous Day Was Recovered.

New York, February 17.—Although London sent over a lower range of prices today and then offered stocks here, the market presented a fairly firm front. It failed, however, to make up any of the ground lost in yesterday's decline, scarcely deviating from the preceding close. Trading was light and speculative conditions virtually were unchanged. The market turned heavy toward the close.

The significant development during the day was the series of announcements of forthcoming capital issues. New York Central applied for permission to issue $70,000,000 bonds, Great Northern made known its proposed sale of $19,000,000 of stock and Interborough Rapid Transit sold $10,000,000 bonds. With the recently announced issue of $55,000,000 Southern Pacific convertibles, the amount of new securities arranged for in the last few days runs up well over $150,000,000. It has been expected for some time that the improved conditions in the investment market would result in a large amount of new financing and the rate at which new capital is being sought indicated that, in the judgment of many of the principal financial interests, the time to enter the market had arrived.

Great Northern preferred dropped over two points over the announcement of the new stock issue. Great Northern "rights" sold in the outside market at 2 to 2 1-2.

Traders felt today that the importance as a market factor of the interstate commerce commission's further suspension of the 5 per cent freight rate increase had been overemphasized yesterday. Washington advices explained that, although suspension until September 12 had been ordered, it did not follow that the decision would be delayed until that time and that the ruling might be made in May or June.

Heaviness of a few isolated stocks held back the general list. New Haven, Chesapeake and Ohio and Pennsylvania were under pressure.

Bonds were irregular with an easier tendency. Total sales, par value, $2,930,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

MATHEWS BOUND OVER FOR LYERLY ROBBERY

Lyerly, Ga., February 17.—(Special.) At the preliminary trial of Frank Mathews, suspect held in connection with the Lyerly bank robbery on the night of January 29, which lasted all yesterday, Mathews was bound over to the action of the grand jury, which meets on the second Monday in March. The chief witness for the state was Mark McNew, alleged confessed bank robber. McNew told of the robbery of the bank and of the third man who was in the party, but who has not been captured. McNew states there were only three in the gang, himself, Mathews and another man whom detectives are searching for.

Mathews' attorneys, Frank Copeland and Barry Wright, of Rome, and C. D. Rivers, of Summerville, put up a strong fight for the defense and the trial consumed a whole day.

The name of the third party is withheld by officers, but they say that he is being sought.

Mathews' bond was fixed at $10,000 by Judge Bellah, but being unable to furnish the necessary surety, he was carried to the county jail. Mathews will not discuss the case.

Eighty Years of Faithful Service to the American Public

The Mitchell-Lewis Motor Company has the enviable record of eighty years of faithful service to the American public. Bear this fact in mind when you get ready to buy a car, for it operates as insurance of quality.

No thoughtful business man ever buys a commodity or a luxury or a necessity without looking into the character of the men who make it. This rule of trade is more imperative in the purchase of an automobile than almost anything else you can name.

Eighty years of faithful service is an asset of no uncertain value. This company held the respect of the early settlers of the western country because of absolutely honest merchandise in the shape of farm wagons. It established its standing before automobiles were known. When it embarked in the automobile business, it clung to the policy that made its farm wagon business famous. And its automobiles are famous, for the same satisfying reason.

You've got something behind you when you buy. Our standing and prestige constitute a bulwark of safety. Add to this the remarkably fine character of the Mitchell Models and your purchase is as solid as the Rock of Gibraltar. Ask any farmer in America what he thinks of the old Mitchell-Lewis Wagon Company. Ask any one of thirty thousand Mitchell automobile owners what he thinks of the Mitchel-Lewis Motor Company. Their reputation and reliability are precisely the same.

JAKE STAHL ADMITS FEDERALS' OFFER

Chicago, February 17.—Jake Stahl, former manager of the Boston American league baseball team, today admitted that he was considering an offer to manage the Brooklyn Federal league club. The offer was made to him last night by James A. Gilmore, president of the Federal league, and Charles Weeghman, president of the Chicago Federal league club.

"This chance to get back into baseball came to me suddenly and I can't say what I will do," said Stahl, who led the Red Sox in 1912 when they defeated the New York Nationals for the world's championship.

"I certainly had a good offer from the Federal league men and I wouldn't hesitate a minute because of any fear of getting my money.

"But when I was let out of Boston last summer I gave up baseball forever and since then have given my entire attention to the Chicago bank in which I have invested my money. It's pretty hard for me to see any way of leaving that business again.

"I haven't given Mr. Gilmore a final answer yet. One may see a way to do a lot of things for a lot of money."

The amount offered Stahl was not made public. Gilmore and Weeghman are said to be conducting the negotiations for R. B. Ward, owner of the Brooklyn club. Ward is reported to have given Gilmore $25,000 with which to procure a manager for the club.

Toledo Team Transferred; Handsome Ball Park Idle; Central League May Enter

Toledo, Ohio, February 17.—With the Toledo American association team transferred to Cleveland, the finest minor league park in the country is temporarily without occupation.

C. W. Somers, Cleveland magnate, has a lease upon the park, but will surrender it, and Noah H. Swayne, the owner, announced today he would lease the park to any baseball organization, Federal or organized, that wanted to place a team in the city.

Central League May Enter.

Fort Wayne, Ind., February 17.—Following the announcement of the removal of the Toledo American association club to Cleveland, President Louis Heilbroner, of the Central league, today made application to Secretary John H. Farrell for the Toledo territory. At the same time the Central league head wired for an option on the Toledo ball park on behalf of the Central league.

A Cracker a Day for Fans

10. CHAS. S. KISSINGER.

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the tenth of a series of daily articles that will be carried by The Constitution, introducing to Atlanta fandom the men who will try for positions on the 1914 Crackers. The complete record, history and photo of each of the thirty candidates will be printed in this form.

Charles S. Kissinger, the veteran right-hander, who has earned the sobriquet of being the "handsomest man in baseball," because he is just the opposite, will twirl for the Crackers during the coming season.

At least the "Rube," as he is known by baseball fans throughout the world, is a candidate for a position on the pitching corps of the Crackers and there are many who believe that he has a regular job sewed up.

Rube is 33 years of age and first saw the light of day at Adrian, Mich., where he is spending his winters, on December 13, 1880. Rube is six feet tall and weighs 190 pounds.

Rube is one of the most likeable characters in baseball today. He is not sensitive about his beauty in the least, and, like vaudeville performers, makes capital of his facial map during a tight game, to the delight of the fans and the disgust of the opposition.

Kissinger has been in professional baseball thirteen years. He was with the Detroit Tigers in 1902 and 1903, Buffalo in 1904, 1905, 1906, 1907, 1908, 1909 and 1910, Jersey City 1910 and 1911, and Memphis 1912 and 1913.

Rube is a right-hander and bats either right or left-handed, it depending on what kind of a twirler the opposition has in the box.

Rube should prove a winner with the Crackers. Last year, with Memphis, he twirled great ball, but he had to practically win his games unaided, as the hitting and fielding behind him was nil in many games. We have seen Rube lose two and three-hit games as the result of poor support.

With the heavy hitting Crackers, the Rube should be among the top-notchers of the league and as he is more than pleased to play with the locals he is certain to give Bill Smith the best he has in shop at all times.

Rube won 13 games and lost 14 games with Memphis last season, a percentage of .464, more than 100 points better than the team average of the Turtles. To pitch .500 per cent ball with a team that finished in the low position that the Turtles did proved that the Rube is a very formidable twirler with a good ball club.

The Rube's acquisition to the local hurling corps will be welcomed. He will probably be considered a regular right from the jump, though he will have to battle hard to prove his claim to that berth, as Manager Smith has some very promising youngsters signed up.

RUBE KISSINGER.
The veteran right-hand hurler who will try for a position on the 1914 Crackers. He is considered to have better than an even chance to beat out the other candidates.

GEORGIA LEAGUE WILL ENFORCE SALARY LIMIT

Strict Observance of the Rule Means Success of League, Declares President.

Valdosta, Ga., February 17.—(Special.)—The salient feature of the meeting of the directors of the Georgia State league today was the warning by President Kalmon that the salary limit will be rigidly enforced the coming season.

"The enforcement of that rule means the success of the league," he declared.

Representatives were present from every club, as follows:

H. Langdale and Jamie Ashley, for Valdosta; President I. J. Kalmon, of Americus; Quimby Melton, secretaary, of Americus; J. B. Jemison and R. G. Mays, of Thomasville; Louis Leavy and T. A. Fabre, of Brunswick; Fred Brewer and Prewitt, of Waycross; J. H. Bartholomew, of Cordele.

The schedule as adopted calls for 108 games, with the opening date set for April 16, and the first half season to close June 17; the second half to open June 18 and close August 18.

The Valdosta directors made a strenuous protest against last year's guarantee of $40 a game, with an equal division of all over receipts. Valdosta wanted a straight $40 guarantee, but other representatives took the position that such an arrangement would be against the smaller cities, so the old arrangement stands.

As to suspension of players, it was decided to change the limit from ten to five days. Twenty passes are to be allowed each team. Three players above the C class are also allowed.

Three umpires will be used, though four will start the season. Absolute authority is given the umpire, and it was the voice of all present: "Let every club back the umpire." The visitors all predict a brilliant season for the baby league.

PEACOCK-FLEET EASY FOR BOYS' HIGH FIVE

Boys' High had little difficulty in downing the Peacock-Fleet quintet Tuesday afternoon by the score of 39 to 13. The game was played upon the Marist court.

The B. H. S. boys took the lead right after the game started and the outcome was never in doubt. Scott, of Boys' High, was the individual star of the game. Playing at the position of center, he scored 21 of his team's points. Knox and Johnston also played well for Boys' High while Wells and Ponder played the best for Peacock-Fleet.

WHITNEY AND MANDOT FIGHT ON SATURDAY

Local Favorite Tackles Pride of New Orleans in Latter City Saturday.

After being postponed several times, the Frank Whitney-Joe Mandot bout is finally on. It is scheduled for New Orleans Saturday night, the original date of the Mandot-Griffiths bout in that city.

Local promoters and fans are very much interested in this bout. The promoters have wired the two boys that they will give the winner a battle with Charley White, Ad Wolgast or Freddie Welsh at a future date.

The Whitney bout will be a splendid test of whether Mandot has come back or not, as his friends say he has. If he can win handily from Whitney, he will be considered back in his own form. Whitney is a tough nut for any of them to tackle.

Grant and Britt Battle At Columbia Tonight; Two Other Good Bouts

Jimmy Grant, the sensational little bantamweight from Chicago, and "Spider" Britt, Atlanta's best bantamweight, will clash over the ten-round route at the Columbia theater tonight.

This crap should prove one of the best treats of the season, as both boys are known here for their willing style of battling. Grant has beaten every boy he has been asked to meet, and if he wins over Britt he will be in line for bouts with the very best boys of his division.

The semi-windup will bring together Meyer Pries and Eddie Walsh. They are billed to box six rounds, and the winner will probably get a match with some good boy in the near future.

Two corking little newsboy scrappers, Kid Williams and Battling Shepherd, will open the show with a four-round affair. This means twenty rounds of boxing for local fans, which is certainly a treat. The bout will be put on between shows, at 9:30 o'clock.

WADDELL DYING.

Mother Says That Doctor Gives Her No Hope.

San Antonio, Texas, February 17.—Rube Waddell is dying, his mother said last night. The big pitcher, who came to Texas several months ago, has been brought to San Antonio from Boerne, Texas, and placed in a sanitarium. He is now unable to walk.

"Rube is much weaker than when he first came south," said his mother. "The doctor says there are no chances in his favor."

Waddell is suffering from a bronchial affection.

MORE PELS AND NAPS REPORT FOR PRACTICE

New Orleans, February 17.—Joe Birmingham, manager of the Cleveland American ball club, who has been here several weeks with the advance squad for spring training, turned the training program over to Lee Fohl, manager of the Waterbury, Conn., Eastern Association club, last night and departed for Cleveland. It was said that he may make an effort to persuade Pitcher Falkenburg to leave the Federals and return to the Cleveland club. Ray Chapman, shortstop, joined the Clevelanders here yesterday.

Outfielder John Cochran, of Calhoun, S. C., joined the New Orleans Southern league club yesterday. Manager Dobbs announced that Pitcher Liebeman had signed a contract.

NATIONAL LEAGUE TO SETTLE EVERS CASE SATURDAY

New York, February 17.—Governor John Tener, of Pennsylvania, president of the National league, has called an adjourned session of the National league and an adjourned meeting of the board of directors of the league to be held at Sinton hotel, Cincinnati, next Saturday at 2 o'clock. The final details of the transfer of former Second Baseman John Evers, of the Chicago club, to the Boston club will be completed. Other matters are also expected to be considered.

BIRDMEN TERMED PEACE COURIERS

Aero Club Plans for Contestants in Globe-Girdling Race to Be Messengers of World Amity.

New York, February 17.—"Messengers of international peace," contestants in 1915 round-the-world aeroplane race from San Francisco will be called if plans of the Aero Club of America, announced here today, go through. The club sent a telegram to C. C. Moore, president of the Panama-Pacific exposition, urging that the air contest be made officially an expedition of peace.

It was announced that the club has written to the country's foremost peace advocates inviting their co-operation in having the race inaugurated a world-wide peace movement in which the aviators, flying above potentially unfriendly frontiers, would be pathfinders.

Recipients of Letters.

Among those to whom letters were sent are President Wilson, Secretary Bryan, William Howard Taft, Joseph B. Choate, Andrew Carnegie, William G. McAdoo, Lindley M. Garrison, Josephus Daniels, Nicholas Murray Butler, Vice President Marshall, Miss Jane Addams, Oscar S. Straus, Gifford Pinchot, Jacob H. Schiff, Alton B. Parker, George W. Perkins, William B. Howland, Albert Shaw, Hamilton Holt, John Hays Hammond, Viscent Astor, Cornelius Vanderbilt and Edward F. Dunne—some of these members of the American committee arranging the hundred years of peace celebration among English-speaking peoples.

The Aero club in its telegram to the exposition head said it was with "a feeling of duty to humanity that we urge you to make every effort so that the airmen who start in the world race may start as messengers of peace, that posterity may know them as pathfinders who opened the way to a new epoch, a new civilization free of the restriction of frontiers."

To Spread Peace Gospel.

In its letter to international peace supporters, the club wrote:

"The opportunities to start a world-wide movement to spread the gospel of peace through this one event are many and far reaching. * * * In the past year England, Germany, Austria and Russia have made laws forbidding aviators to fly over their frontiers without special permission and the Aero clubs of three continents have united to remove these restrictions and have appealed to the Aero Club of America for co-operation. * * * Four years of development in aviation have shown that the air craft primarily is an instrument of peace. The 7,000 licensed aviators of the world, while military in part, all fly for peace each day; and while the aeroplane is supposed to be the terrible destroyer, the records show that it saved thousands of lives in the Turkish-Italian and Balkan wars. The aerial scouts were so swift in detecting the movements of armies that where they were employed the element of surprise was removed. * * * The aeroplanes have so far been the best messengers of peace the world has ever had."

SCHMIDT IS BARRED BY SOUTHERN LEAGUE

Little Rock, Ark., February 17.—"If it is true, as claimed by George Stovall, that Charles Schmidt, the Mobile catcher, has signed a Federal league contract, then Schmidt will have to play with the Federal league next season; the Southern league will not have him," said President W. M. Kavanaugh, of the Southern league, tonight.

"If a man is of the class that he does not regard a contract with the Southern league as binding, then he is welcome to go."

Schmidt, it is stated, has accepted terms offered by the Kansas City Federal league club.

President Kavanaugh stated that he would investigate reports that several Southern league players had been given bonuses to secure their signatures to contracts. Such a gift, the president pointed out, would be a violation of league rules, and would not be permitted.

So far as he has been advised, Mr. Kavanaugh declares, only three players, Catcher Bemis of Memphis, Outfielder Lush of New Orleans, and Pitcher McConnell of Chattanooga, have negotiated with Federal league clubs. None of these, according to Mr. Kavanaugh's information, have signed with the new league.

MURPHY SAYS CUBS ARE NOT FOR SALE

Chicago, February 17.—In a letter to the committee representing the syndicate which is anxious to purchase the Chicago National league baseball club, President Charles W. Murphy, of the Cubs, yesterday declined to fix a price, and stated emphatically that the club is not for sale.

James A. Pugh, Charles A. McCulloch and William H. Thomas, who form the committee, expressed regret, but said they had not abandoned hope of acquiring the Cubs.

Their first effort to purchase the Cubs was made in a telegram to Murphy immediately after the announcement of Johnny Evers' dismissal as manager. Later the offer of purchase was made in a formal letter. Murphy's communication yesterday was in reply.

TECH HIGH FIVE 29, DONALD FRASER 17

By the score of 29 to 17, Tech High school defeated Donald Fraser Tuesday afternoon in a good game of basketball. The game, which was played upon the Tech High court, was well fought throughout and some sensational features were uncorked by both sides.

Tech High took the lead in the first few minutes of play and ran the score up high before Donald Fraser scored. Then after Donald Fraser started scoring the playing was even. The score at the end of the first half was Tech High 17, Donald Fraser 5.

Czintz, Meyers and Thomas played the best for Tech High, while Phillips and Burgess starred for Donald Fraser.

The Line-up.

TECH HIGH (29)	Pos.	DON. FRA. (17)

CORNELL ATHLETES UNDER SUSPENSION

Ithaca, N. Y., February 17.—Two Cornell varsity football players and a varsity crew man have been suspended for failure to pass their mid-year examinations ,according to reports today. The men are Charles Barrett, quarterback of last fall's team, and A. D. Williams, a 'varsity center.

The crew man is Q. A. Gilmore, a member of last year's freshman crew, and placed by Coach Courtney in this year's first varsity combination. It is said that there is some chance of the men getting back into the university by petition, but they will be placed on probation, and will be unavailable for athletics.

Howard Fritz, crack halfback and one of the best pole vaulters in the university, will be unable to compete in track athletics, because he has been placed on probation.

LYNCH HAS AGREED TO LOCALS' TERMS

Wires He'll Be Here--Signs on Arrival—First Practice at Ball Park Tuesday Afternoon.

Only three Crackers are now unsigned. Manager Smith received a wire from Nealon Lynch, the new third baseman purchased recently from the Decatur, Ill., steam, stating that the terms of the local club were satisfactory.

Lynch lives in Oakland, Cal. Being such a distance away, to mail him a contract and get it back in time would be out of the question, so Lynch, although a Cracker, will not go through the formality of signing a contract until he reports.

Transportation has been wired to Lynch and he will leave Oakland a week from Sunday, as it takes him three days and three nights to make the trip here.

Outfielder Kircher, Infielder Jennings and Pitcher Hedgepath are the only Crackers who are now unsigned.

Practice Tuesday.

Tuesday being a beautiful day, some of the ball players in the city got the fever and hiked to Ponce de Leon, where they engaged in the first work-out of the season.

Manager Smith was out in uniform warming up, and with him were Harry Holland, former Tech and Cracker third baseman, now with the Washington Americans; Red Smith, Brooklyn third baseman, and Tommie McMillan, the midget shortstop.

The work-out was strenuous for the first day out and these four are certain to be nursing some sore whips this morning.

Workouts will be continued every pleasant day until the main body of the Crackers report and the players who were out yesterday are sure to be joined by other players who make their home in the city.

By the end of the week there is likely to be a full ball club on the field working. In another ten days the field will be covered with ball players.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

Real estate agents this week have been taking the most optimistic view of the state of the real estate market and the prospects for increased activity than at any time previous this year.

This optimism is based upon the increase in inquiries in the last several days. People interested in realty have been making a large number of inquiries as to property for residence, investment and speculation, and the signs would indicate a much brisker market in the next few days.

Good weather will greatly aid the market.

Evidence of good business at present is found in a considerable number of sales of more than usual importance, which are in the contract stage. Several of these are expected for announcement before the end of the present week.

Sales Going to Record.

The papers of several interesting sales went to record on Tuesday.

Mrs. Lena Swift Huntley has conveyed to George C. Rogers an improved piece of property on the north side of Peters street, between Forsyth and Madison avenue, for a consideration of $45,000. The lot is 74x100. Mr. Rogers gave as part payment a lot on Peachtree street, east side, 229 feet south of Eleventh street, the size being 60x130, valued at $30,000. George P. Moore made the trade.

Mrs. Yula B. Quinby has sold to J. K. Orr the southeast corner of Yonge and Chamberlin streets, opposite Mr. Orr's shoe factory, for $6,000. The corner is 57½x150.

L. A. Green has sold to F. D. McMillan the northeast corner of Ponce de Leon avenue and Ponce de Leon place, a vacant lot, 85x190. This is in the neighborhood of the site for the Ford Motor company's assembling plant, where has been considerable activity of late.

LOCAL HOTEL MEN FORM GREETERS' ASSOCIATION

Annual Convention Is Arranged For to Be Held in Atlanta Shortly.

The clerks and assistant managers of the leading hotels of the city assembled last night in the convention hall of the Piedmont hotel in the largest and most enthusiastic gathering of hotel men in the history of the city for the purpose of organizing an "Atlanta Club of the Southeastern Greeters."

R. Frank Taylor, assistant manager of the Piedmont hotel, was elected chairman of the meeting, and the organization was perfected in short and rapid time. At the close of the business session speeches were heard from most of the clerks present and it is the intention of the men behind the movement to make the Atlanta club the strongest organization of its kind.

The Southeastern Greeters include the clerks and assistant managers of all the hotels in North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee. A committee was appointed to arrange the date for the annual convention which is to be held in Atlanta at an early date. It is probable that it will be held shortly after the Shriners convention. H. F. de Jarnette, of the Ansley, was made chairman.

Fred Houser was present at the meeting, and threw a lot of enthusiasm into its organization by the talk he gave the hotel men. Frank Reynolds, publicity man of the Ansley hotel, was elected an honorary member.

It was decided to hold semi-monthly meetings in preparation of the big convention of the greeters. The meetings will be held on the second and fourth Wednesdays in the month, and the next meeting will be tonight week at 10:45 p. m. at the Ansley hotel. At this meeting officers will be elected.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the Piedmont management.

MARDI GRAS TOURISTS ON WRECKED STEAMER

Louisville, Ky., February 17.—One hundred and twenty-one mardi gras excursionists stranded here early today when the packet Queen City, one of the largest stern-wheelers plying the Ohio, was swept by the current against a rock and sunk in 8 feet of water, tonight were put aboard the Steel City, another packet, to continue their interrupted trip to New Orleans.

The Queen City, with 8 feet of water in her hold, is not thought to be in a dangerous position. Efforts are being made to float her by shifting the 720 tons of freight she carried.

Including her crew, the Queen City carried 200 persons, many of them women, but the transfer in boats to the United States Life Saving station here in the darkness was effected without mishap or confusion.

WILSON'S VETO THREAT AMAZING TO SENATORS

Plans Had Been Made to Retain Literacy Test in Immigration Bill.

Washington, February 17.—Information that President Wilson would veto the immigration bill if it is sent to him from congress with the literacy test provision amazed members of the senate immigration committee. Many of them confessed tonight that they were bewildered, inasmuch as they had determined to retain the literacy test in their draft of the immigration measure as it passed the house, under the impression that the president would accept the bill if it passed the senate. An interesting session of the committee is looked for tomorrow.

Two weeks ago the committee directed Senator Smith, of South Carolina, the chairman, to consult with President Wilson on immigration legislation. It was said today that the members especially desired to learn whether the veto power might be directed at the literacy provision of the Burnett bill. Some of the senators were inclined to the belief that it would be a waste of time to take up consideration of immigration reform at all if the restrictive literacy test would again fail. They were committed to that provision as a beneficial form of restriction, had voted for it twice before and felt constrained to insist upon it again, but they did not want to waste the time of a busy congress should there be a possibility of immigration legislation falling again under the executive ax.

Senator Smith reported that while the president did not look upon the literacy test with favor, he would sign the bill if it passed the senate. Upon that basis the committee went to work. Now the members are inclined to stand by their guns despite the president's attitude, certain that the measure can pass the senate and not at all sure that it might not repass both houses by a two-thirds vote over the head of the president. The senate repassed a similar bill over President Taft's veto, but it failed in the house.

NORRIS GOT HIS GUN AND SHOT UP FAMILY

Wellston, Okla., February 17.—Everett Norris, a farm hand 22 years old, killed one relative, probably fatally wounded two others, including his father, near here today, and rode away with the declaration that he intended to slay the children in a nearby school house. Neighbors hastily armed themselves, but when Norris saw the display of weapons he veered away and rode into Wellston where he was captured by the town marshal. While a mob was gathering the officer whisked his prisoner out of town to Chandler, where he was placed in jail.

Norris, according to the authorities, engaged in a dispute early today with his father, Frank Norris, over the renewal of a note. During the progress of the quarrel, it is charged, Norris shot his parent four times. He immediately repaired to the adjoining farm of W. W. Riley, his father-in-law, where he opened fire on Riley and John Alcorn, Riley's son-in-law. Riley fell dead at the first shot and Alcorn dropped probably fatally wounded.

SHERMAN GOT COLUMBIA FORTY-NINE YEARS AGO

Columbia, S. C., February 17.—The 49th aniversary of the entrance of the northern soldiers into Columbia under General Tecumseh Sherman was marked today by the unveiling of a granite boulder erected by the Wade Hampton chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, upon the spot where T. J. Goodwyn, the mayor of Columbia, under a flag of truce, met General Sherman and surrendered to him the city. The occasion was given a peculiar interest by the presence of the only living witness to the event, Norton W. Brooker, who made the address of the occasion.

The surrender was made noteworthy by the subsequent burning of the city.

SCENES OF TUMULT IN OHIO LEGISLATURE

Columbus, Ohio, February 17.—Scenes of tumult, which at times bordered on riot, marked the close late today of the special session of the legislature, which adjourned sine die.

An altercation in the house between Representative M. A. Warnes, democratic floor leader, and Representative J. G. Cooper, a republican, was prevented by other members separating them during a quarrel over the automobile license tax bill, an administration measure, which was passed and sent to the governor.

Governor Cox left tonight on a ten days' vacation trip in Florida.

WILSON PUSHES FIGHT AGAINST FREE TOLLS

President Is Anxious for a Speedy Repeal of Exemption Clause of Canal Act.

Washington, February 17.—That the senate may not wait for initiative action in the house before taking under serious consideration the matter of repealing the tolls exemption clause of the Panama canal act became apparent today. It was stated by several senators who are anxious to have the matter settled to aid in clearing up foreign relations generally that some action toward a solution of the question was probable within a few days.

May Go to Caucus.

Thursday is set as the day for beginning discussion on the general arbitration treaties in executive session. The expired treaty with Great Britain which awaits ratification for extension, will be taken up first, and it will be certain to open the flood gates of oratory on the Panama tolls question as this was the stumbling block to ratification of the treaty last summer. Senator O'Gorman, who is opposed to the convention, and also opposed to the president's desire that the canal tolls exemption for American coastwise ships be removed, will lead the attack. That the matter yet would be sent to a democratic caucus for determination is the view held by many senators.

President Wilson, it was learned today, is confident that formidable opposition in the senate to his toll policy already has been overcome. Tonight it was learned that four democratic senators told the president on the night of his conference at the white house with the foreign relations committee that they would reverse their position and vote to repeal the free toll section of the canal act.

Underwood to See Wilson.

In the house, however, considerable opposition to repeal of the tolls provisions has developed, and to this the president has turned his attention. Tomorrow he will confer with Majority Leader Underwood, who has been a stanch advocate of toll exemption for American ships. Mr. Underwood will be accompanied by Representative Kitchen, of North Carolina, ranking member of the ways and means committee. While the president recognizes there are many who do not agree with him about the construction of the Hay-Pouncefote treaty, he believes the house will repeal the provision when leaders are fully advised of the international importance of such a step.

Mr. Wilson is known to regard it as extremely vital to the foreign policy of the United States that the action be taken.

LITTLE GERMAN BAND PLAYED AT HER FUNERAL

New York, February 17.—The music of a little German band—somewhat out of tune and time—formed the opening incident of the funeral today of Zoe Anderson Norris, a widely known writer and social worker of the east side, who died Friday after predicting her early death and publishing her own obituary in a little magazine she edited.

It was one of the last wishes of Mrs. Norris that the German band she used to hear in the courtyard beneath her flat should furnish the music at her funeral.

Today its wheezy notes intermingled with the sobs of women who paid Mrs. Norris a last tribute of friendship.

Mrs. Fletcher Chelf, of Harrodsburg, Ky., daughter of Mrs. Norris, and her son, Robert Norris, of Kansas City, were at the funeral. Most of those present were members of the Ragged Edge club, which was founded by Mrs. Norris.

The body will be sent to Harrodsburg tomorrow, where it will be buried in the family plot.

BEAT EXPRESS AGENT AND SECURED $6,400

Farmington, Ill., February 17.—An unidentified man entered the office of the Adams Express company here late today, beat the express agent, C. L. Brown, into unconsciousness and escaped with a package of currency containing $6,400.

Brown was found bound and gagged. Physicians say his skull is fractured, and he probably will die.

HE SWALLOWED POISON BEFORE JURY GOT CASE

Kankakee, Ill., February 17.—Arthur Clark today took poison in the court room of Judge C. B. Campbell, as the jurist was reading his instructions to the jury in a case against Clark for obtaining money by false pretenses. A physician who worked over Clark for hours tonight expressed the opinion that the man will die.

HELD FOR KILLING SON, POTT DIES IN PRISON

Paris, February 17.—Victor Pott, who shot and killed his son, Harry Fragson, the comedian, last December, after a trivial dispute, died in prison today. He was to have been tried on a charge of homicide. Pott was 84 years old. There are no relatives living so far as is known, and a large part of Fragson's fortune, estimated at $400,000, will go to the French treasury.

MURDERED WIFE LEFT PROPERTY TO HUSBAND

Newark, N. J., February 17.—The will of Mrs. Carrie Manning, who was killed two weeks ago by Hazel Herdman, 20 years old, in love with Charles I. Manning, was filed today. It was dated prior to the entrance of Miss Herdman into the domestic life of the Mannings and provided that all the wife possessed should go to the husband. Just before the murder Mrs. Manning inherited a considerable sum from her father. Miss Herdman committed suicide.

If I Had Only Known!!

What a miserable, disappointed feeling usually accompanies the above expression—and justly, too!

Money is too hard to get these days, and when an easy opportunity to make money is offered you, and you can't exactly see it, and someone else steps in and makes a good profit that could have been yours, it really hurts.

Now, don't pass this opportunity up; we will stand back of it.

This proposition is between North Pryor street and Ivy street, on Auburn avenue. Telephone us and we will be glad to come over and give you the particulars.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

WILLIAM G. RAOUL.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Southwestern Railroad company, held February 12, 1914, the committee appointed to draft resolutions with regard to the death of Captain W. G. Raoul, late president of the company, presented the following report, which was duly adopted:

Your committee appointed to submit for your consideration suitable action concerning the death of our late president, William G. Raoul, beg to report as follows:

Captain Raoul died in Atlanta, Georgia, on the 17th day of January, 1913, in the seventieth year of his age, having been born in the state of Louisiana on the 4th day of July, 1843.

He became a member of your board on the 30th day of October, 1882, was elected president of your company on the 18th day of October, 1901, and served continuously in this office until his demise.

He was on your board during the troublous days of the receivership of the Central Railroad & Banking company of Georgia, which involved your company, and threatened the ruin of its stockholders. He was of great service in those days, and to his intelligent and ceaseless efforts is due largely the extrication of your company from its serious difficulties. The stockholders owe him a large debt of gratitude.

During his entire connection with your company, until bad health necessarily interfered with his efforts, he was always intelligent and vigilant in guarding and protecting its rights.

Take him all in all, Captain Raoul was one of the most prominent and useful citizens in Georgia. He was in enterprises of "great pith and moment," and always bore himself well. He was not only a public spirited and useful citizen, in times of peace, devoted to efforts which meant the uplift of the people, but during the war between the states, in times that "tried men's souls," he served his state and cause with great fidelity and gallantry to the end, and came out of the war with an unsullied record as a Confederate soldier.

His association with the other members of the board was always pleasant and helpful, and all of us recollect him with feelings of friendship and admiration. We shall greatly miss him at the board meetings, and the state of Georgia will miss him as one of its most prominent and valued citizens.

We recommend

1. That this report be adopted as an expression of our esteem and admiration for Captain Raoul.
2. That it be spread upon our minutes and a copy be furnished the family of the deceased, and
3. That it be published in The Macon Telegraph, The Savannah Morning News and The Atlanta Constitution.
